PREFACE

"Blessed is the man, who, by excellence of hand and speed of foot, takes by strength and daring the highest of prizes."

—Pindar, c.518-442 B.C.

Pindar was a Greek lyric poet and his "Odes of Victory" celebrated victors in the Olympic, Pythian, Nemean and Isthmian Games.

Some three years have been spent in compiling this work and it is to be hoped that the publication of this book will make it useful as a general reference to all sportsmen.

In some sports it has not been possible to give the winners' names from commencement, due to loss of records over the years, but every effort has been made to give as complete a coverage as possible. Some allowance must be made for names spelt incorrectly or the wrong initial given, but every care has been taken by compiling the results from official handbooks wherever possible.

It is hoped to be able to provide a further summary in the next year or two and corrections would be made if advised.

FOREWORD

The nineteen fifties and sixties may well become identified in sporting history as the period during which New Zealand, as a sporting nation, emerged from comparative obscurity, to become universally known and respected on the stage of international sport.

Not only in Athletics has this breakthrough been achieved, but in other truly international sports, such as Hockey, Yachting, Basketball, Rugby, Motor Racing, Cycling, Rowing, Horse Racing and Swimming, our representatives have reached their goal of world class performance.

This emergence has occured when many sports clubs are preparing to celebrate their hundredth year of existence, and while we are optimistically looking into the sporting future, it is appropriate and interesting to make a retrospective survey of the performances of our sportsmen and sportswomen of the first century.

Mr Sydney P. Todd of Dunedin has made this survey easy for us by the publication of this complete record of the names of all the New Zealand championship winners in every sport since it began, as well as by giving us their respective performances and also each provincial team's results.

The amount of patient and laborious research contributed by Mr Todd in gathering all this information, checking for accuracy and preparing it for publication has been tremendous.

Historical research has not been Mr Todd's only interest in sport. His contribution to Hockey on the West Coast, in Wellington and in Otago, as a player, coach and umpire, with a New Zealand A Grade badge to his credit, has been outstanding and continuous for nearly thirty years.

In Swimming, too, he has served on the administrative side with the Dunedin Club and the Otago Swimming Centre as an official at their Carnivals for some years, and it is fitting that, in this sport, Mr Todd should finally have experienced the ultimate pleasure of any sportsman, that is, to watch his own son, Jim Todd, win the New Zealand Men's 100 Yard Medley, and also become runner-up in the 100 Yards Backstroke in the one evening at the National championships at the Riddiford Baths in 1955, incidentally creating a New Zealand record for the Medley which still stands.

Sportsmen will hope that Mr Todd will keep this fascinating and historically valuable publication up to date in the years to come.

Physical Welfare Officer, Otago

Sydney P. Todd was born in Millerton, on the West Coast, and first became interested in sport in Westport in the mid twenties when he started to play hockey at the Westport state school, later playing for the St. John's team and also representing Town against Country in the Buller District. He then transferred to Wellington, playing for the Huia Club, and then shifted down to Dunedin, where he played for High School Old Boys.

After giving up playing, he commenced umpiring and coaching, and had the honour to be chosen to umpire the game between West Coast and the Indian team in 1938.

After gaining his New Zealand Women's A Grade badge he coached in Wellington, West Coast and Dunedin.

AERO CLUB PAGEANTS

ROYAL NEW ZEALAND AERO CLUB

The Royal New Zealand Aero Club is an affiliation of clubs throughout the Dominion. Each is represented by councillors, and it is through the R.N.Z.A.C. that the movement in New Zealand is founded.

Trophies competed for, have been presented to the New Zealand Aero Club and are for competition at the Club's annual pageant or rallies. Competitions are open only to clubs affiliated to the N.Z. Body. With the exception of aerobatics, any type of aircraft may be used. Leonardi De Vinci, thought and wrote about flying, and there are also some references in the works of Francis Bacon.

In 1896 a steam-driven model flew for a distance of half a mile along the banks of the Potomac river near Washington. In September 1908, Orville Wright made a flight of 45 miles in one hour fourteen minutes, but a few days later he had an accident and his passenger was killed and he was seriously injured.

In 1904 the first powered flight in New Zealand was undertaken by Mr Richard Pearse near Temuka in the South Island in April, a flight of 150-200 yards, in an aircraft of his own design and construction.

The first championships held in New Zealand were the Wigram Cup competition and the Cory Wright Cup, also the Herald Cup. These were held in 1932.

WIGRAM CUP: This trophy is for non-professional pilots and is competed for with bombing, landing and aerobatics.

ANGLING AND CASTING

NEW ZEALAND ANGLING AND CASTING ASSOCIATION

The Angling and Casting Association was formed in 1957 and now consists of some 40 affiliated clubs, including two ladies' clubs. Among the members are fishermen, freshwater men, surfcasters, rockhoppers, in fact every kind of angler. Members are encouraged to use light tackle, to attain the maximum in skill and enjoy the maximum in sport.

Regular surfcasting and fly and plug casting tournaments are held, also postal competition with overseas countries.

Meritorious catches are recognised by the issue of merit certificates, and the Association record book covers: Open Ladies, and Junior entries in Beach and Boat sections in four breaking strain divisions. There is also a freshwater section.

The North Island has the predominance in clubs with Hokitika and Canterbury being some of the South representatives. In 1963 at the championships both South Africa and Australia had anglers competing.

Some of the casting distances are: 812ft 1in, cast by Mr I. Bowles of South Africa, with a 2oz unrestricted fixed spool; 768ft 6in., cast by Mr Charteris of Hokitika, with the same 2oz fixed spool. Mr Charteris's average cast was 739ft 3in.

Some of the classes from which the overall champion is found, are: Skish Fly Accuracy, Fly Distance, single and double handed, Fixed Spools and Revolving Spools, $\frac{3}{8}$ and $\frac{5}{8}$oz spools, 1, 2 and 4oz spools, etc., 2oz, 4oz Sinker lines and 6lb and 12lb breaking strain lines.

The events for casting championships have changed over the years and according to results received from the Headquarters of the Association, the only criteria would be, all round champion, i.e. the caster scoring the highest points overall. The championship events have now been settled finally and the programme cast at Rotorua in 1963 will be permanent.

ARCHERY

NEW ZEALAND ARCHERY ASSOCIATION

ARCHERY: The true name of archers is "Toxophilites," the word being derived from the Greek "Toxon," a bow.

One of our words, Toxic, stems from this word, by way of "Toxion" or arrow poison. The American Indians seem to have been acquainted with this weapon in the 11th century.

The first known Society of Archers, the Royal Company of Archers in Edinburgh, the King's Bodyguard, was founded in Scotland in 1676, and George IV, as Prince of Wales, became Patron of the Toxophilite Society, which was founded in England in 1781.

The first society in America was founded in 1828 and was known as the Club of United Bowmen of Philadelphia, and in 1829 the first American championship was held with five competitors.

The New Zealand Archery Association was incorporated in Dunedin in 1943 and the first New Zealand championships were held in 1944 and these, up to 1948, were conducted by postal shoot.

These contests were shot by the different clubs on specified dates and the scores were witnessed by two other Archers, and signed as correct by a responsible officer of the club. In 1948 the first shoulder to shoulder championships were held at Moller Park in Ravensbourne, Dunedin. Results are given as follows but some championships are missing due to the fact that some are not always competed for and some records have not been available from the Association for some of the years.

Championships are conducted at different venues each year with Open, Ladies, Intermediate and Junior Archers competing.

Some championships are not always competed for in the Intermediate and Junior sections and some championship results are missing from the official records but the following are the winners to date of all titles that can be gleaned from records, programmes and newspapers.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

NEW ZEALAND FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION

"SOCCER." This word is an abbreviation and corruption of the word "Association," from the title of the game "Association Football." In 1885 an Association Football Club was formed in Dunedin, this being the Northern Club, which is still an active Club, and the first Club to win the Rothmans Trophy in 1962.

In 1870 matches were played with the crew of H.M.S. Rosario with fifteen men in the team. In 1887 there were four teams in Auckland, and the famed North Shore Club was formed in 1886.

In 1895 a parade of schoolboy soccer players was held in which over 1000 boys took part.

In 1891 the Brown Shield was presented, and also in this year the New Zealand Football Association was formed.

A match was played in 1891 on the well known Rugby ground, Potters Field, between the Auckland and Wellington teams at Auckland.

By 1895 six centres were affiliated to the New Zealand Association.

CHATHAM CUP, for Club Competition. The Chatham Cup is the premier soccer trophy in New Zealand and was first competed for in 1923 when Seacliff, Otago, beat Y.M.C.A. of Wellington by 3 goals to nil.

The Chatham Cup was presented to the New Zealand Football Association by the Officers and Crew of H.M.S. Chatham, in recognition of happy days spent in New Zealand. This trophy is competed for, generally, by the winning club of each local competition playing off with other finalists until two are left, who then play the final game.

BROWN SHIELD: On the 16th August, 1890, the first representative game of soccer between Wellington and Canterbury was played at Christchurch, the southern team winning by two goals to nil.

The following year a return match was played at Newtown Park, Wellington, and this time Wellington won, one to nil.

Among the spectators who witnessed this game was a representative of a Scottish firm, namely Mr J. Brown, and he together with other visitors attended a smoko in the evening. At this concert Mr Brown stated that he would present a shield for competition among the various provinces. Soon after, this valuable trophy which is adorned with Scottish flowers and thistles, was handed to the Wellington and Canterbury Associations. Engraved on this beautiful shield is "Associated Football Challenge Trophy" and in smaller print, "Presented by Robert Brown, Glasgow, 1891." For many years it was the custom for provinces to meet at one of the centres and play a tournament, but in later years this was changed and the shield was re-named the Brown Shield.

The first tournament for this shield was held at Christchurch, in 1892, and Wellington defeated Canterbury 9 goals to 2. Competitions took place every year until the Football Association Trophy superseded it and the Brown Shield was allotted for competitions between Minor unions in the North Island.

The shield is now played for on a challenge basis, the same as the Ranfurly Shield in Rugby and can be won and lost several times in the one season.

ROTHMANS CUP: This trophy called the Rothmans National Soccer Trophy, is competed for on club level on a National basis.

The "Rothmans of Pall Mall" Company of New Zealand presented a large money Trophy of £1000 which is divided up between the winners, runner-up and winners of sectional play of this National Tournament. The clubs of the four main centres hold a knockout competition, producing in each centre the winning Club team.

The winners of the North Island centres then play off two games, the aggregate score producing the champion club team of the North Island, the same thing happening in the South Island, then the two winners meet and a National Club champion is found.

The winner of the first Rothmans Trophy goes, by coincidence, to the first club formed in New Zealand, Northern, of Dunedin, Otago.

PETER DAWSON CUP: This trophy was first presented by Mr Peter Dawson, of Glasgow, whilst on a tour of New Zealand in 1922.

The cup was presented to the New Zealand Association, for inter-provincial competition in the South Island.

The cup was first played for in 1926 and was won by Buller. West Coast then won the trophy in 1928, 1929 and 1930. No further games were played until 1947.

The New Zealand Association then changed the rules, making the Trophy for Minor Unions only.

In 1947 West Coast and Southland were finalists, but the acutal final game did not take place, so the two provinces were jointly awarded the cup.

West Coast then won the cup in 1948, but lost it again to their southern rivals. Southland, 3 goals to 2.

ATHLETICS

NEW ZEALAND AMATEUR ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

ATHLETE. This is a Greek word meaning a contestant in the Games, from "Athlein," to contest for a prize and "Athlon" a prize.

As far as history and legend record, Ireland boasts the most ancient sport of Athletics, the Tailteann games. These games were in honour of Tailti, about three thousand years ago.

New Zealand has sent many teams to both the Empire and Olympic Games.

The New Zealand Association was first established in 1887. Many of the championship events also started in this year. Hurdle championships first started in 1887.

Records have not been shown in this book due to the fact that they alter at almost every meeting for all sports. and would be out-dated almost at every championship.

It is interesting to note that the Mile, first run in 1888 and in 1889, the time for the distance was 5 minutes 5 seconds, against Peter Snell's time of 3 minutes 54.4 seconds on January 27th, 1962.

It is also interesting to note that Peter Munro of Wellington has been crowned as New Zealand champion over 21 times in Athletics in the years 1920 to 1933.

Abbreviations are as follows:

Northland: N.
Auckland: A.
Waikato: Waik.
Hawke's Bay-Poverty Bay: H.B.-P.B.
Wellington: W.
Canterbury: C.
Otago: O.
Southland: S.
West Coast North Island: W.C.N.I.

NEW ZEALAND CHAMPIONSHIP SHIELD: This shield is the major trophy in the Athletic championships events, and points for the trophy are as follows: First 5, Second 3, and Third 2.

Prior to 1910 points were awarded: First 6, Second 3, and Third 1, and then up to 1947 they were, First 5, and Second 2., and then followed the new system from 1947 onwards.

The shield covers all competition in Senior championships.

Should a tie result in points, the Centre gaining most firsts will then be declared the winner. If the number of first places is the same the Shield will be held jointly.
The New Zealand championships are held at different Centres each year and the Cross Country is held later in the season at a different locality.

Dedication and the Champion

Dedication — single-minded concentration on achieving excellence — the key to the success of the champions. The great ones of sport triumphed because of their whole-hearted purpose.

This same kind of spirit, the same dedication has enabled Mutual — dedicated to serving the public — to emerge as a champion in service for the public — providing unexcelled car rental facilities throughout the nation. In major centres throughout New Zealand and Fiji, Mutual has cars for hire, and takes pride in having achieved such a service for the public's use.

AXE AND SAWING

NEW ZEALAND ATHLETIC, CYCLING AND AXEMEN UNION

AXE: From the Latin "Ascia" and the Greek "Axine," meaning a Mattock. These championship results have been compiled in the main, from the records of Mr E. R. Warner, of Ohakune, who has made a lifetime study of Axe and Sawing championship events.

The records of the Association were lost some years ago, and it is only with the co-operation of Mr Warner, that this section of New Zealand sport has been able to be completed as far as possible. In some instances initials have not been available nor place of residence.

From the date of the first Championship in this section, it appears that these two sports, Chopping and Sawing, commenced in New Zealand about the start of the century.

Competitions for the various events are held at different venues each year, and some of the events are not held yearly. As the type of wood used varies in each locality, comparisons of times are not favourable.

In the Axe championships there are two types of competition, namely Standing and Underhand chopping.

In the Sawing events, there are Single handed and Double handed Sawing.

BADMINTON

NEW ZEALAND BADMINTON FEDERATION

BADMINTON: In the early 1870s some English Army Officers saw a game played with bats and a kind of shuttle. They tried the game and called it Poona after the town in which it was played in India. Later on in England, some of them on leave at Badminton, the country home of an English Duke, explained the game they saw played and this started the game of Badminton, the name being taken from the country home.

The game in New Zealand was first played at Auckland, where a club was formed in the year 1900. The game lapsed after a few years and was revived again in the twenties, when Badminton spread to other North Island Centres.

The New Zealand Badminton Federation was founded in the year 1927 and at the present time, 1965, there are some nineteen affiliated Associations.

All Men's and Ladies' and Junior championships are held at the one centre.

WISDEN CUP: This trophy was first presented in 1933 for competition between associations in New Zealand affiliated to the N.Z. Federation.

BRASS BANDS

NEW ZEALAND BRASS BANDS' ASSOCIATION

In 1845 one of the first bands to be heard in Auckland was the band from H.M.S. "Royal Sovereign" and in Wellington the band of the 65th Regiment played in the open once a week, within a few years of the landing of the first settlers.

For more records of the first playing of Band music in New Zealand, there has just been published "The Music of the People," by Mr S. P. Newcomb, who deals at very great length with the history of bands and bandsmen in New Zealand. Regarding championships, with which this book is more concerned, the earliest recorded contests took place in 1878 to 1880.

The 1880 contest was held at Christchurch and was won by Invercargill Garrison. In 1882 another contest was held in connection with the Christchurch exhibition and this was won by Timaru Artillery. At the Wellington exhibition championship in 1885 Oamaru were the winners and they again won a contest at Christchurch in 1889. The formation of the first Brass Band Association dates from this contest.

In 1922 a Bandmasters' Association was formed in Wellington. In 1931 the amalgamation of the North and South Island Brass Band Associations into a New Zealand Association was negotiated, and the New Zealand Brass Bands' Association came into being with Mr E. Palliser as first president.

Results of the championships follow:

QUICKSTEP: The first Quickstep championship was held at the New Zealand and South Seas Exhibition at Dunedin in 1890 and was won by Wellington Garrison Band. There were several championships held throughout the early years in both Islands, by the two separate Associations, one in the North and the other in the South. In 1957 Mr Ted Kerr presented a cup for the Championship to commemorate the Kaikorai Band's many successes around the 1950s.

HARMONICA BANDS

NEW ZEALAND HARMONICA BAND CHAMPIONSHIPS

Music for the first instrument known as the Harmonica or Musical Glasses, as they were sometimes called, was composed by both Mozart and Beethoven, but the Harmonica as we know it today, was not invented until around 1821.

The first New Zealand championship was held during Easter at Ashburton, in 1941, but owing to the War years intervening, many bands were forced to go into recess, due to shortage of Harmonicas and other reasons.

In 1941 Hymn Tests were played, but later results were not available again until 1954, when the competitions included Champion Band, Champion Ensemble, and Soloist.

It is interesting to note that some of New Zealand's famous Brass Band conductors have been judges at these championships, including K. G. Smith, R. J. Estall, and such well known musicians as Messrs C. L. Martin and F. J. Turner

PIPE BANDS

HIGHLAND PIPE BAND ASSOCIATION OF NEW ZEALAND

The Piping and Dancing Association of New Zealand which was formed in 1908 was reorganised and incorporated in 1918 under the "Incorporated Societies Act, 1908."

Under its rules the Association had power to promote and foster throughout the Dominion of New Zealand the practice and improvement of Bagpipe music, and to control and hold throughout New Zealand competitions and championships in Pipe Music.

In 1926, the body governing pipe bands in New Zealand was the Piping and Dancing Association of New Zealand.

In 1926 the Dunedin Highland Pipe Band decided that the time had come for the pipe bands to control their own affairs without interference from others.

All Pipe Bands in the Dominion were invited to send delegates to a meeting to be held in Dunedin on the 25th February, 1926, and this meeting was presided over by Mr J. C. Rigby of Dunedin. After a long meeting it was decided to form a Highland Pipe Band Association of New Zealand completely divorced from the Piping and Dancing Association.

The Piping and Dancing Association then set out to undo what had been done at this meeting. Mr Kenneth Cameron visited most of the bands in both Islands in an endeavour to prevent the breakaway from his Association and it was proposed that the Highland Pipe Band Association should be formed within the rules of the Piping and Dancing Association, but after many months Mr C. S. Thomas decided to make a fresh beginning and he called a meeting to take place at Christchurch on February 19th, 1928, and it was then moved by Mr J. Gold of Balclutha and seconded by Mr G. McAllister of Christchurch that: A Pipe Band Association be formed generally in the terms set out in Rule 34 of the Piping and Dancing Association. This rule reads as follows:

"Any Society or other organisation in sympathy with the aims and objects of the Association may affiliate with it, particularly Gaelic, Celtic, Highland, St Andrews, Burns, Scottish and Caledonian Societies, and any other similar organisations, including Pipe Bands."

Those representing the Bands in the South, who were responsible for calling the meeting in Dunedin in 1926, and who had opposed the new Association being under the jurisdiction of the Piping and Dancing Association, generously withdrew their objections and the motion was carried.

The creation of the Highland Pipe Band Association of New Zealand as it is known today, therefore, took place in Christchurch on the 19th February, 1928. The chairman at this meeting was Mr C. S. Thomas, to whom the writer is indebted for the history of the Association in this shortened form.

Three Championships were held in New Zealand before the Association officially came into being, these being held at Christchurch in 1907, Dunedin in 1926 and again in Christchurch in 1928, Dunedin winning the first two and Wanganui the third contest.

"B" Grade championships were first held in 1936 at the contest at Wanganui and the "C" Grade started in Christchurch in 1953.

BASEBALL—WOMEN

NEW ZEALAND WOMEN'S BASEBALL ASSOCIATION

Baseball is the major game of the American summer, and was founded on the English game of Rounders and was earlier known in the United States as Town Ball. It reached its present state of popularity in the latter part of the 19th Century.

The New Zealand Women's Baseball Association was organised in 1940, and the first championship game was played in 1941, this game being won by Canterbury. At the same time the New Zealand Softball Association was being formed and they also conducted National championships.

No further results were available after 1949, as many players moved over to Softball and Baseball went out of the national competitions.

The following are the Baseball Champions up to 1949, when the Association went out of existence:

BASKETBALL

NEW ZEALAND BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION—OUTDOOR

The New Zealand Association was formed in 1924 at a meeting held at Wellington with delegates present from Auckland, Wellington and Canterbury. Although Otago was not represented they had signified their approval of the formation of a Dominion body.

Mrs R. S. McInnes of Wellington was elected the first President, and Mrs H. D. Muir of Canterbury was the first Vice-President.

Mrs McInnes held the position of President until 1932, during which time she had been residing in Invercargill, when the New Zealand Executive was located there. In 1932 the New Zealand Council decided to move the Executive to Wellington and Mrs H. D. Muir of Canterbury was then elected President.

Miss M. E. Armstrong was the Treasurer and was also one of the foundation members at the 1924 meeting.

Southland affiliated in 1925.

In New Zealand today there are some forty-six Associations affiliated to the New Zealand Association.

More than fifty years ago Presbyterian Bible Class teams were the first New Zealanders to be introduced to Basketball and they played the game in a paddock not far from the present Auckland Courts.

The major trophy competed for in New Zealand Basketball is the New Zealand Cup, with the Annie Brown Cup for the Runner-up team. In the B Grade section the Trophy is the President's Shield with the Hayhurst Cup for the Runner-up. In the Third Grade the Kiwi Trophy is competed for and the Armstrong Shield for the runner-up, with the Allen Challenge Shield for the Fourth Grade and the Hastings Cup for the Runner-up.

BASKETBALL, INDOOR—MEN

NEW ZEALAND MEN'S BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION

Men's Basketball has experienced a steady growth in New Zealand since its introduction by the Y.M.C.A. in the late 1920s. Now that secondary schools are promoting the sport, its future as a major sport in New Zealand is assured.

The New Zealand Association was first formed in 1946 and the first National championships were held at the same time. In the first championship three teams tied for first place, Otago, Wellington and Auckland.

Basketball, like most sports, did not grow into a game from primitive sporting activity, but was invented to meet a need which had arisen in physical education.

The Inventor of Basketball was Dr James A. Naismith, who was a student at the International Y.M.C.A. training school at Springfield, Mass., U.S.A., in the year 1891. His ambition was to find a game which included team play, with the benefits of football, but without Football's body contact. He decided that a big ball could be used and as a soccer ball was handy this was utilised for the first playing of the game. Later, special balls were used. He also decided that the ball be tossed at a goal and a box above the floor was his solution. As the Janitor could not find a box, he offered the Doctor two peach boxes and these were nailed to the gymnasium railing. This railing was ten feet above the floor and this measurement has been used to this day.

The position of the players were suggested to Dr Naismith from the Canadian game of Lacrosse, and for several years the line-up of players was the same. (This information is taken from the National Championships programme, held by the Lower Hutt Centre in 1962).

BASKETBALL, INDOOR—WOMEN

NEW ZEALAND WOMEN'S INDOOR BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION

Although New Zealand Championships have been held since 1937, these being organised by the Y.M.C.A., it was not until 1945 that the New Zealand Women's Indoor Basketball Association was formed.

The first President was Mrs R. Bailey of Wellington, Vice-Presidents being Mrs Zena B. Bay of Nelson and Mrs Yendall of Palmerston North.

In 1946 Mrs Gay was elected President.

The first championships were held in Wellington, followed by Christchurch. Eight A grade teams and five B grade competed in the first championship.

The championships consist of three grades, A, B and A Reserve.

The A Reserve was instituted in 1952.

The following listed places show where the New Zealand Championships have been held since the inception of the New Zealand Association.

Up to and including 1959 both A and B Grades were combined, but in 1960 they were played at different localities:

BILLIARDS

NEW ZEALAND BILLIARDS ASSOCIATION AND CONTROL COUNCIL

"BILLIARDS" is from the French word, "Billard," a billiard cue or stick, from "Bille," a log or stick of a tree. The Latin root is "Billus", a log. According to authorities, nothing is known of the origin of the game and it may only be inferred that it developed from a variety of games in which a ball was propelled.

In the 16th and 17th centuries there were many allusions to the game and in 1576 Mary Queen of Scots, during her captivity, complained that her billiard table was taken away.

The Auckland Sports Club, previously the accredited representative for the British Billiard Association and Control Council, handed over its charter on the formation of the New Zealand Billiards Association in September 3rd, 1935, at a meeting called in Auckland. The Association was formed by the delegates of the four associations, Auckland, Wellington, Canterbury and Otago, and is now known as the N.Z. Billiard Association and Control Council.

In 1955 Southland was admitted to the Council and it was the first association to have a dual championship, when it conducted both the Billiards and Snooker, in 1956. Since that date both championships have been conducted in the one centre, generally in August.

Championships have been conducted since 1908 and the results to date for Billiards are as follows:

BOWHUNTERS

NEW ZEALAND BOWHUNTERS' SOCIETY

The New Zealand Bowhunters' Society was constituted on June 24th, 1955, and now supersedes what was formerly known as the New Zealand Bowhunters' Club. The object of the Society is primarily the promotion and enjoyment of the sport of Bowhunting. Mr Brian Henwood, the National Secretary of the Council, was one of the prime movers in forming the New Zealand Council and Mr Henwood is also the holder of the Big Game record, in that he shot an 11-point red stag at Reporoa, between Taupo and Rotorua. It is the largest head taken by a New Zealand bow hunter to date. The spread of the antlers on this stag was 32⅛ inches. The total score of this shoot was 253⅝ points using the Norman Douglas method of scoring. This stag was shot in 1958.

At the annual championships, the meeting is held on undulating, bush-covered terrain, with shooting pegs placed at unmeasured distances, in difficult positions to simulate hunting distances. All targets are natural coloured animal paintings, with the highest scoring area around the lung cavity.

In the small game competition for the Henwood Trophy, the bowmen shoot such animals as Goats, Rabbits, Rats, Opossum, Wild Geese and Pigs, Stoats and Hares, etc., and in the big game contest some of the animals are: Deer, Wild Pigs, Chamois, Thar, Wallaby, etc.

The Bowhunters' Council is affiliated to the New Zealand Archery Association, and also to the N.Z. Deerstalkers' Association.

Competitions for the National trophies have been in existence since 1958 when the first championship was held at New Plymouth.

Winners of these titles are as follows:

BOWLING—INDOOR

NEW ZEALAND INDOOR BOWLS FEDERATION

The New Zealand Federation was first formed in 1949, after some twelve months work. It was founded by the then Secretary of the Wellington Indoor Bowls Association, Mr George Welch.

In 1949 the first National President was Mr E. C. Wearne, and the deputy President, Mr R. J. Wallis. The first Secretary was Mr C. G. Welch of Wellington, who held this position for seven years, and he was followed by Mr R. J. Malcolm.

In 1949 there were 1854 members of the Association and by 1962 the membership had risen to 70,503.

Trophies have been presented by several supporters of the Federation; Messrs A. Stoneham & Co. Ltd, of Wellington, presented the shield for the Fours and this is known as the Stoneham Shield, and was presented in 1958.

The "Pairs" trophy, known as the Haines and Wearne Rose Bowl, was presented by R. Haines and W. Wearne of Morrinsville, in 1956.

The Singles trophy is known as the "Harris Bowls" and was presented by Mr F. A. Harris of Auckland in 1956.

BOWLING—MEN

BOWLS: The definition of this word is from the Latin "Bulla," or old French "Boule," a bubble or stud.

Bowls is an ancient game, played on a smooth lawn with biased balls. Just when Bowling first started is hard to tell. In 1447 Edward IV caused an Act to be passed that prohibited bowling. The penalty was two years' imprisonment for the players and three years for those who permitted the game to be played in their houses or other places.

So it appears that the game goes further back than 1447, but it can be stated that the game first was played in New Zealand around 1860 in Auckland. The game did not gain much popularity in Auckland and it was in the South that it first made headway. Games were first played on private greens until the first bowling greens opened around 1871.

The Dunedin Club commenced in 1871 as the Dunedin Bowling and Quoiting Club. The first annual report of the New Zealand Association was presented in the season 1886/87. The president was Mr Thomas Callender, known as the Father of Bowling in the South

It is interesting to note that the assets of the Association at that time were a balance of 18/11 and a cup valued at £5/12/-.

The first New Zealand championship was held at Dunedin in 1914. The championships are held at Auckland, Christchurch, Wellington and Dunedin in rotation.

The above information is from the New Zealanders' Bowling Annual of 1916, a gift to the compiler from the late W. Alloo of Dunedin.

BOWLING—LADIES

NEW ZEALAND WOMEN'S BOWLING ASSOCIATION

The New Zealand Women's Association was first formed in Dunedin in 1948, when a representative gathering of delegates throughout New Zealand attended. Mrs Adess of Dunedin was the first elected President and Mrs V. Kane also of Dunedin was the first Hon. Secretary and Treasurer. Mrs Kane's daughter, Mrs S. Keenan of Dunedin, at present Otago Secretary, has carried on the work of her mother and with Mrs Boles of Auckland has held the Presidency twice for the New Zealand Association.

The first Tournament in New Zealand was held at Wellington in 1951, and at this tournament only the Fours titles were held.

In 1952 the first Pairs championships were instituted at Dunedin, being won by a St Kilda pair. In 1957 Singles were instituted and these are run with two types of championship competition. A tournament singles championship is run in conjunction with the New Zealand championships and a Champion of Champions tournament is run separately each year at a different location to the fours and pairs tournament. This champion of champion singles is between the winners of each centre's championship, playing other centre champions.

BOXING

NEW ZEALAND BOXING ASSOCIATION

BOXING: This word is derived from "Box," a blow, probably from the Danish "Bask," meaning a buffet.

The modern boxing glove is traditionally ascribed to Jack Broughton, the father of British pugilism, who lived from 1705 to 1789. Gloves were first used in his time. All the earlier prize fights were decided with bare fists. The word "Pugilism" is derived from the Latin "Pugil" and from the same stem comes "Pugnus," meaning a fist.

Bob Fitzsimmons, although not a New Zealander by birth, was the first from this country to win a World Heavyweight championship. Jim Mace, one of the last of England's bare-knuckle fighters, came to New Zealand and promoted fights throughout New Zealand, in the 80s. Billy Murphy of Auckland was also a winner of a world title when he won the World Featherweight championship, and Ted Morgan, Welterweight, also won a world amateur championship at the Olympic Games at Amsterdam in 1928. This title also was the first championship won by a New Zealander competing at the Olympic Games.

The first amateur boxing Association in New Zealand was established by Mr W. G. Atack, a Christchurch journalist, who realising that boxing had fallen to a low level, desired to have it protected by an Act of Parliament and controlled by reputable citizens. This was in 1902. To Mr Atack the honour of forming the New Zealand Boxing Association was due. The Association has controlled both Amateur and Professional since then.

The first championship was held at Christchurch and the first heavyweight champion was J. Fitzsimmons of Timaru.

All championships are held at the one place each year.

Since 1902 championships have been held at the following places:

BRIDGE

NEW ZEALAND CONTRACT BRIDGE ASSOCIATION

Bridge has for many years been a popular social game. Until the late 1920s it was confined to the parlour. In the late 1920s the late Ely Culbertson fostered the game competitively. Clubs were formed in America and spread to England and the Continent. Card players in the Southern Hemisphere soon followed and in 1933 a meeting was called in Wellington by Professor Von Sedlitz, Mr Glen Dopel and Mr Astley Duncan. Under their direction the first Bridge Club in New Zealand was formed and clubs in Auckland (Northern Club), Christchurch (Crockfords) and Dunedin (Otago) commenced play.

The first N.Z. Contest, in teams of four, was played in 1936, and was won by a Christchurch team. This contest has been held annually since. The other major event held annually is the N.Z. pairs championship. Pairs are also held in the North and South Island each year.

The N.Z. Bridge Association controls all the national Bridge while the main centres control provincial matters in their vicinity.

Three systems are played in New Zealand: Acol, Culbertson and Goren, with the addition of the Gladiator system, which originated in Auckland under the late Dr Bruce McKenzie and Mr C. L. Eastgate. This system is recognised overseas as well as New Zealand. Text books on these systems are available in New Zealand.

CANOE RACING

NEW ZEALAND CANOEING ASSOCIATION

CANOE: From the Spanish word "Canoa," the name given to their wooden dug-out boats by the Carib Indians.

Although Canoeing was established as an organised sport in New Zealand as early as 1881, prior to World War II clubs did not collaborate. Soon after the war the last of them wound up their Associations. In 1950 a group of Aucklanders, mainly University Students, formed, first, the Auckland Canoe Club and later the New Zealand Canoeing Association, a body designed to promote the revival of the organised sport in New Zealand. Boy Scout troops started making trips down the Wanganui River around this time. In 1955 Wanganui Canoe and River Boating Club organised the first National Canoeing Racing championships in Wanganui. The New Zealand Association was reconstituted as a Federation in 1959, and then gained general support from all the clubs.

It is now recognised by the International Canoe Federation and also the N.Z. Olympic and British Commonwealth Games Association as the national governing body for the sport in New Zealand.

Events are held for Senior men over 17, Intermediate men 15 to 17 and Junior men under 15. Ladies are unrestricted in age. Races are over standard distances of 500, 1000 and 10,000 metres, except slalom and torrent races, the distances for which are not defined by rules.

Four trophies have been presented since 1962 and these are: Senior 1000 K1 Championship Cup presented by Palmerston North Canoe Club; Junior 500 K1 Cup presented by Mr J. D. Mason, President of the N.Z.C.A. from 1950 to 1959. The Intermediate Single Cruiser Cup was purchased by the Association. The New Zealand Breweries have also presented a trophy to the club gaining most points at the championships.

CHESS

NEW ZEALAND CHESS ASSOCIATION

CHESS probably originated in India in the 7th century and spread to Persia and Arabia and then to Western Europe. The terms "chess" and "checkmate" derive from the Persian "Shah", a king, and "Shah Mat", meaning the King is dead.

There are two associations in New Zealand, one being the New Zealand Chess Association, which holds championships at different locales each year, and the other the New Zealand Correspondence Chess Association, whose games are played by post between its members.

The latter Association has a trophy tournament for the Chess championship of New Zealand which is conducted all by post. All winners receive a suitably engraved trophy, usually a chess piece and a printed certificate of performance.

The playing season ends on March 31st and in the annual report full scores of all tourneys are given.

The history of the Correspondence Chess Association goes back to the 1920s when Mr A. O. Gray, of Christchurch, was an overseas member of the British Correspondence Chess Association. In 1932 Mr Gray persuaded Britain to conduct a tourney for New Zealand players only. By 1933 he had sufficient members and in that year the first New Zealand tourney began. The winner of this trophy is unrecorded but H. R. Abbott of Christchurch was second. The New Zealand Association was founded in 1938 and Mr Gray was the founder. Mr Gray died in March, 1941.

CHESS CHAMPIONS OF NEW ZEALAND: The trophy for this championship is known as the "Rook" and is made from sheet silver. It is about 18 inches high and the base about 14 inches.

COURSING

NEW ZEALAND GREYHOUND RACING ASSOCIATION

Greyhound Racing was first instituted in England in the year 1863 and the headquarters of the Association was the Waterloo Hotel in Liverpool. It is from this Waterloo Hotel that the name of New Zealand's first Coursing trophy was named, the Waterloo Cup.

The name of the Greyhound sport is Coursing, and is from the Latin "Cursus," meaning running, and the sport is the pursuit of game by dogs using the sense of sight to follow the quarry.

The first Waterloo Cup was raced for at Oamaru in 1878, but about the year 1948 the sport was banned by a Bill brought forward by Miss Mabel Howard in Parliament. Some confusion existed re the winning of the Waterloo Cup as it was run in both Islands but the list included in this sport was sent to the writer from the New Zealand Coursing Association in 1948, and is the only accepted list of winners. The first meeting was held at Awamoa in Oamaru in 1878. Bookmakers were always at the meetings until they were declared illegal in 1908. Tin Hare racing came into being in the year 1929. This type of racing originated in America in 1917.

Today the New Zealand heats of the £3600 New South Wales St Leger are one of the main annual events. The winner of the New Zealand final receives £50 just to start in the semi-final of this rich classic at Wentworth Park, Sydney, Australia.

The Great Northern Futurity Stakes, with a stake of £100, is the richest race in New Zealand and this race started in 1960. The New Zealand Breeders' Stake of £100 came into being in 1963. These three races are for the younger greyhounds of special age groups.

Also raced are the New Zealand Oaks, Derby and St Leger, also flat and hurdle races.

CRICKET—MEN

NEW ZEALAND CRICKET COUNCIL

CRICKET: The name Cricket, according to two authorities, may be derived from the word "Cryce," a Saxon word meaning stick, or from the French word, "Criquet," a stick, used in a game.

In the 13th century reference was made to a similar type of game as cricket and the first written reference is possibly to be found in an extract from accounts in the reign of Edward I.

The first definite match of which there is a record was played in Sussex, eleven-a-side, for a purse of 50 guineas, in the year 1697.

In 1707 London played as a team and played a game with the Kentish men in 1719. In 1654 the lads of Eltham in England were fined for playing cricket on the Sabbath.

In 1750 Hambledon Club was formed and in 1788 the Mary Le Bon Club, later the M.C.C., carried out the first revision of the rules.

Early history of New Zealand shows in the records many games played around the 1840s, and one game was played in Kororareka in 1841. In 1842-43 there was a club in Wellington and in 1848 Otago challenged Wellington, to be played at any point. In 1849 the married men's team played the single men's team in Dunedin on the famous Octagon, with locally made bat and ball. The Christchurch Cricket Club was formed in 1851. Auckland, who can claim to be the pioneers of cricket in New Zealand, played Wellington in 1860 and travelled to the game by steamer.

The New Zealand Cricket Council was established in 1894.

PLUNKET SHIELD: Awarded to the Canterbury centre by the New Zealand Council, in the season 1906-07, but it was captured by the Auckland team in the initial challenge match.

The Plunket Shield remained a challenge shield until 1922, but from then on the shield has been competed for on a competitive basis.

HAWKE CUP: This trophy was presented by Lord Hawke in 1910. The first holder of this trophy, in the season 1910-11, was decided by a tournament in which Southland, as South Island winners, defeated Rangitikei, the North Island winners, at Christchurch in 1911. The following season South Canterbury challenged unsuccessfully, and a further tournament was arranged in the 1912-13 season, in which South Auckland defeated Marlborough. Since then a challenge system has been in vogue, with elimination matches since 1924-25 to reduce the number of challenges to a reasonable number.

CRICKET—LADIES

NEW ZEALAND WOMEN'S CRICKET ASSOCIATION

In the N.Z. Women's cricket championships there are three trophies competed for. The Hallyburton Johnstone Shield is for the major unions, and the Mary Machin Shield is for inter-provincial competition in the South Island. The latter was originally for first elevens, but was later changed to be competed for by second elevens, to encourage younger players. The North Island trophy is the Amalgamated Theatres' Shield.

THE HALLYBURTON JOHNSTONE SHIELD was presented to the Auckland Women's Cricket Association in 1933 by Mr Hallyburton Johnstone, a grand old man well known for his generous offers of trophies to many sports, and his keen interest in all sports. The Wellington team won the trophy in the same year from Auckland.

THE AMALGAMATED THEATRES' SHIELD was first presented in 1933 for competition among women cricketers by the management of the Theatres in Wanganui during a tournament which was being held there at the time. Teams from Auckland, Wellington, Canterbury and Wanganui competed. Wanganui were the first winners, and the following year it was won by Auckland.

MARY MACHIN SHIELD: This shield was first presented in 1932 to the Canterbury Women's Association for inter-provincial games in the South Island, but around 1948 it was changed to competition among the second elevens.

CROQUET

NEW ZEALAND CROQUET COUNCIL

CROQUET. From the French word "Croquer," meaning to crack, and from the language of the Walloons, "Croque," a blow or fillip.

The game evolved from the Paillè-Maille which was played in Languedoc, a former province of France, as early as the 13th century.

It was first played in England about 1856, the first all-comers' meeting being held at Moreton in the Marsh, Gloucestershire, in 1868.

The New Zealand Croquet Council was formed in 1920 but discussions regarding the desirability of forming such a body had taken place as early as 1912.

Canterbury, including South Canterbury, at that time had several strong clubs, and a tournament was held annually in Christchurch.

At the 1912 tournament a resolution was passed that steps should be taken to arrange for a competition for New Zealand championships. Inquiries were made throughout New Zealand, but clubs in other areas were not prepared at that stage to assist in the formation of a council.

Canterbury Association proposed that a competition, to be known as the New Zealand championships, be played in conjunction with their own tournament.

The first New Zealand championships were played in January, 1913, on United Club's lawns, Hagley Park, Christchurch, also in 1914 and 1915.

War intervened and no further championships were held until 1920. Associations were formed in the following districts: Auckland, Canterbury, Wellington, Waikato, Hawkes Bay, Manawatu and Taranaki.

New Zealand championships have been held in the following places since 1920:

CURLING

CURLING: A game in which the player propels a large stone upon a sheet of ice called a Tee.

It is not known where this game originated, but it became popular in Scotland around the 16th century. Some writers trace its origin to the Netherlands. The game was called "Kuting" in parts of Larnarkshire and Ayrshire. The Royal Caledonian Curling Club of Edinburgh began its existence on November 15th, 1838, and is regarded as the Mother Club throughout the world.

Stones with handles weigh no more than 45lb and the circumference is not more than 36 inches. Stones used in the 16th century weighed from 5lb to 25lb and a century later some were reputed to be up to 80lb in weight and some were as heavy as 115lb. The term Bonspiel, meaning a match game, is now the name of a Curling tournament.

The Bonspiels are held only around Central Otago in the following districts: Oturehua, Ida Valley, Kyeburn, Ranfurly, Naseby and other Central areas.

In 1879 the first Bonspiel was held and this was won by Naseby.

In 1965 there were some 25 clubs affiliated to the Royal Caledonian Club.

CASH CYCLING

NEW ZEALAND ATHLETIC, CYCLING AND AXEMEN'S UNION

STAR TOUR OF CENTRAL: New Zealand's richest professional road cycling event is the £500 two-day Star Tour of Central Otago, and covers 200 miles of testing roadway from Dunedin to Roxburgh and return, and is usually held in September.

The first four contests were held in four stages, Green Island to Lawrence (52 miles), and Lawrence to Roxburgh via the Hydro (48 miles), on the Saturday, and Roxburgh to Lawrence (37 miles), and finally Lawrence to Mosgiel (50 miles), on the Sunday, a total distance of 187 miles.

The addition of an 11-mile time trial on the second day in the 1962 race with the change of the finish venue from Mosgiel to North Taieri Airport, brought the total mileage up to the 200 mile mark.

Time bonuses are awarded for township sprints and hill climbs and the rider with the fastest riding time after all time bonuses have been deducted is declared the winner.

The "King of the Mountains" title is contested over the series of five hill climbs, the winner being decided on a points basis.

Winners to date are:

WAIMATE TO CHRISTCHURCH ROAD RACE: One of the classics of the Cash Cycling circuit was the 130-mile Waimate to Christchurch road race, which went into recess in 1954, due mostly to lack of financial support. The Christchurch Cash Cycling Club then concentrated on the Timaru to Christchurch 100-mile road race.

Winners of the race and fastest times are:

In recording the winners of the Union's track championships, great difficulty was experienced in obtaining results prior to 1945. The national records were lost some years ago and many sources were tried to obtain these results from cyclists all over New Zealand, who managed to supply the championship winners given in this section.

Championships have been held at the following centres since 1945:

DARTS

NEW ZEALAND DARTS COUNCIL (Inc.)

DARTS: This word is from the old French word "Dart," and is played indoors with a wall target and small darts, and is one of the finest games of skill, demanding a keen eye, a steady hand, mental judgment and a good head for figures.

It is a very popular game in the Public Houses in England and its popularity has now extended to the private home as well as many clubs in New Zealand.

In New Zealand the first inaugural meeting was convened by Dr Noel North and John Cant Junior, who first started the game in Wanganui. The New Zealand Association was not incorporated until 1957 at Paraparaumu in Wellington. Dr Noel North has been New Zealand Patron ever since the first meeting.

The first games played in New Zealand were between the North and South Islands and it was not until 1957 that a remit from Mr J. Dymand of Dunedin, was moved that there would be a championship for Singles and Pairs. The first championship for these titles was played at Timaru as a curtain raiser to the North v. South game. A very valuable trophy was presented by Dr North and Mr John Cant, for the North-South game, valued at some 150 guineas.

In England, the newspaper "News of the World," recognises any player throughout the world who scores 180 points, the possible with the three darts thrown. The score must be official and obtained by a registered player of an Association.

First to receive this in New Zealand was a Mr Durant of Oamaru, and the first lady Mrs I. Townsend, of Otago.

DRAUGHTS

NEW ZEALAND DRAUGHTS ASSOCIATION

Checkers, more commonly known as draughts in New Zealand, is one of the World's oldest scientific games, and is named checkers after the checkered board.

From evidence given by Egyptian historians, the game was played in the days of the early Pharoahs, and the British Museum has specimens of primitive boards similar to the modern ones in use.

Plato and Homer mention the game in their books and the game was believed to have been imported into Rome in the early days from the Greeks. Antono Torquemada, published the first book on draught playing in 1547, and a mathematician named William Payne was the pioneer in English Literature on books on draughts and his first book was published in 1756.

Draughts have been played in New Zealand for many years, the first championships being held in 1896.

The trophy for the New Zealand championship is the Dannevirke Cup.

In 1948 a trophy was presented by Messrs Anderson and Carey of Palmerston North, to be known as the Anderson and Carey Challenge Cup for competition between the North and South Island at the New Zealand Championships, but this contest does not always take place. The first Island to win this trophy was the South Island in 1948.

The championships are held in each Island in turn.

Winners of the championships since 1896 are as follows:

FENCING

NEW ZEALAND AMATEUR FENCING ASSOCIATION

FENCING: The art of offence and defence, from which the name is derived. It is one of the oldest of sports, but just how old, is not known. The sport was practised in Germany as a form of athletics around 1350.

In fencing three types of weapons are used, Foil, Epee and Sabre. In Foil fencing, the main trunk of the body only, excluding all limbs, is the target; in Epee, all of the body is the target, while in Sabre fencing, the target is from the hips up, including arms and head. The Epee is the heaviest of the three weapons, with the Sabre next and then the Foil.

Fencing in New Zealand commenced at Canterbury University during the winter months of 1927. Fencing was also established at Otago University around this time.

The Christchurch Swords Club was formed in 1930, and this was followed by the Invercargill Swords Club. In the middle of 1930 the Wellington Swords Club was first formed and these clubs were followed by Auckland. Blenheim, Ashburton, Nelson and the R.N.Z.A.F. were also fencing at this time.

At a conference at Christchurch in 1938 the New Zealand Amateur Fencing Association was formed with Sir Joseph G. D. Ward Bt., becoming the first President, and Mr C. E. Purchase as first Secretary. The first championship was held at Christchurch on Labour Day weekend. All the following championships have been held at the Labour weekend.

The New Zealand Fencing championships have been held at the following districts over the years:

GLIDING

NEW ZEALAND GLIDING ASSOCIATION

GLIDING: From the Anglo Saxon word, "Glidan," to slip, slide or glide.

The history of Gliding in New Zealand dates back to the early 1930s and before the outbreak of World War II Gliding Clubs or groups were operating in various parts of New Zealand, and after the cessation of the War many clubs again started up throughout the country. In the years 1946 and 47, many discussions were held re the forming of a New Zealand Association and in May, 1947, a circular was received by the clubs from the Director of Civil Aviation, proposing a meeting to initiate the forming a New Zealand Gliding Association and to establish the qualifications of its Technical Committee.

A meeting was held in Wellington on June 20th, 1947 at which many matters were discussed and culminated with the formal steps to set up the New Zealand Association and the Technical Committee.

The Auckland Gliding Club, in conjunction with Canterbury and Wanganui clubs, had already commenced to draw up a constitution for an Association and it was left to these three clubs to complete this task and Auckland was chosen as the first venue for the new Council.

Over the next four years a considerable amount of work was carried out by the Civil Aviation Branch and gliding enthusiasts in many parts of New Zealand, before arriving at a mutually acceptable set of Airworthiness Requirements for Gliders, appointed a properly constituted Technical Committee whose terms of reference gave its members responsibility for Gliding matters as delegated to them by the Director of Civil Aviation, and had compiled the rules and regulations of the New Zealand Association. A large measure of agreement was reached at a meeting at Mechanics Bay in 1950 in Auckland, and clubs were then able to start making plans to fly.

A privately owned Olympia was operating around Auckland in February, 1950, also a Prefect was operating in Canterbury later in the same year, and this glider later went to Dunedin where it led to the formation of a club in Otago. The Council of the New Zealand Gliding Association was transferred to Christchurch from Auckland in 1954. The Technical Committee has remained in Auckland and is appointed by the Director of Civil Aviation and cannot be varied without his consent.

At the first annual meeting in Auckland on December 7th, Mr J. R. Court was appointed President of the New Zealand Gliding Association.

The first National championships of the Gliding Association were held at the Hood Aerodrome, Masterton, during November, 1963.

GOLF

NEW ZEALAND GOLF ASSOCIATION

GOLF. From the Dutch or Belgic word "Kolf," meaning a club to strike balls with. The origin of the game of golf is obscure but in the early days of the Roman Empire a similar game called Paganica, was played with a leather ball stuffed with feathers and a bent stick for a club. Earliest Scottish reference was in 1457 when a decree of Parliament went forth that both "Futeball and Golfe were forbidden," as it interfered with archery practice.

The Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St Andrews, the home of Golf, was founded in 1744 and the Royal Aberdeen in 1780. At St Andrews headquarters the thirteen rules of Golf were adopted in 1754.

The early Scottish settlers of Otago were responsible for bringing golf to New Zealand and in 1872 the first golf club was formed in Dunedin when permission was given for golf to be played on the Town Belt in Mornington.

The course was of nine holes and the first tee was on the corner of Meadow street, just behind what is now the shopping area of one of Dunedin's hill suburbs, Mornington.

The nearby residents had permission to graze their cows on the same ground, but after a year or two the members were given authority to keep these animals off the greens.

In 1893 Balmacewan was acquired and the Otago Golf Club began its long association with that locality.

In 1893 Otago had the honour of staging the first New Zealand Amateur championship, which was won by an Otago player, J. A. Somerville.

Three months after the commencement of the Otago Club, Hutt Valley formed a club and in 1895 this club held the third New Zealand championship. It is interesting to recall that the Hutt Clubhouse was built at a cost of £30 and golf balls were on sale at 3d each.

FREYBERG ROSEBOWL TOURNAMENT: This inter-provincial tournament was first held in 1951 at Christchurch, and the first winners were Wellington. The Governor of New Zealand at that time, Lord Freyberg, V.C., who had a wide interest in New Zealand sport, presented the trophy to the New Zealand Golf Association for annual competition among the provinces, and so the Freyberg Rosebowl came into being.
Points are scored on the basis of one point for a win over another team and a half point for each drawn game. In the event of a tie in the final results, the team winning the greatest number of individual games shall be the winner. Six players make up each team.
It is interesting to note that up to 1963 Manawatu-Wanganui have been the most successful, having won the trophy on four occasions, and Otago are the only team of the four main centres who have yet to win the coveted championship.

N.Z. MAORI GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS: The first Maori Golf Tournament was held at Waiohiki, Hawkes Bay, in September, 1930, and was organised by Mr H. M. Tatere, who was also Secretary of the New Zealand Maori Association until it went into recess in 1939, due to the Second World War.

It has been said that the home of golf as far as the Maoris were concerned, was in the East Coast districts, extending from Dannevirke to Gisborne. This was very apparent up to the last war, but since then the game has been taken up more extensively in the North Island, especially in the Rotorua districts and in the Waikato.

In 1903, the first Maori to win the New Zealand Amateur championship was the late Kurupo Tareha, father of Kapi Tareha.

Several trophies have been presented for competition and the major trophy is the Kahungunu Cup, presented by Mrs M. A. Perry for the Men's championship. Other trophies are: the Desha Cup, Hakiwai Cup, also handicap trophies.

In the Ladies' championship, the major trophy is the B. B. Wood Cup, presented by Mr B. B. Wood, a son-in-law of Sir Joseph Ward. He won the N.Z. Amateur championship in 1912 and 1913. Other trophies in the Ladies' section are: Ropiha Cup, the Mrs G. E. Ormond Cup and the Pare Carroll Cup.

The first Ladies' championship started in 1932 and these championships are held in conjunction with the Men's championships.

Use your natural swing with 'Allanbrook' custom built golf clubs

You don't have to adapt your swing to Allanbrook clubs. You use your natural swing, your own individual style determined by your own physique. That's because Allanbrook clubs are custom built . . . precision crafted to fit your personal requirements. Mass-produced clubs are made to fit averages compiled from statistics of physical characteristics gathered overseas. The odds against you conforming to the "average physique" are enormous. So how can you possibly expect ordinary mass-produced golf clubs to suit you!

Allanbrook Custom Built golf clubs do. They're tailored to fit you perfectly. Naturally you play better golf than ever before when using a set of custom-built Allanbrook clubs — uniformly matched and swing-balanced by a master craftsman.

Every Allanbrook club is hand crafted by Robert Allan, who perfected his art in a career spanning more than 20 years with golf's master craftsmen, being apprenticed at historic St. Andrews to the late Tom Stewart who is still regarded as the finest ever forger of golf irons; then as assistant to the famous Ben Sayers, of the North Berwick Golf Club, Scotland.

Order your Allanbrook Custom Built golf clubs through your golf professional or leading sports goods store and discover your natural swing.

GOLF—LADIES

NEW ZEALAND LADIES' GOLF UNION

Ladies' Golf in New Zealand was controlled by the New Zealand Golf Union who, in 1905, held a meeting in Napier, and it was decided that the Auckland, Christchurch, Hutt, Manawatu, Napier, North Otago, Otago, Timaru, Wairarapa, Wanganui, and Wellington Clubs should affiliate with the English Union. At this time Women's Clubs had no controlling body of their own and their championship meetings were held under the auspices of the Men's Golf Association. In 1910, at a meeting held in Christchurch, it was decided to form a separate branch of the Ladies' Golf Union in New Zealand. A form of constitution was drawn up, and this was adopted at the next annual meeting in Wellington

In March, 1965, 305 clubs were affiliated to the New Zealand Union.

The first championship was held in 1893 at Dunedin, and this was the New Zealand Ladies' Championship, and was first won by Mrs Lomax Smith. The trophy for this championship is a valuable cup.

The venue of each year's championships are given with the list of winners of the Amateur Match championship.

GYMNASTICS

NEW ZEALAND GYMNASTIC ASSOCIATION (Inc.)

Since the first modern Olympic Games in 1896, Gymnastics has been one of the events on the programme, mainly in team form. It was decided after World War I that all round competition for individuals be included on the programme in addition to the usual championships for teams of up to twenty-four men.

"Gymnastics" is from the Latin word "Gymnasticus," to train in athletic exercise.

The Olympic programme is divided into four main parts, Team, European System or German Turner System, Swedish Team System, Free Team System and Individual.

Gymnastics first started in New Zealand under the control of the Y.M.C.A. in 1933, but were discontinued during World War II, starting again in 1947. Results for these championships are given up to the year 1948 when no further results became available.

In 1956 the New Zealand Gymnastic Association was formed, and since then has conducted National Championships in various centres, but mainly in the North Island.

The formation of the National body was preceded by the formation in 1941 of the Auckland Gymnastic Association, the first Association to be formed in New Zealand.

The Headquarters of the New Zealand Association is in Auckland and is controlled by a Council and Executive elected by delegates at the annual meeting. The Council controls the general administration, matters of policy, rules, etc., and the Executive controls the day by day administration. There is also a Male and Female Technical committee, which makes all technical recommendations to the Council. The New Zealand Association is affiliated to the Federation Internationale De Gymnastique, and the New Zealand British and Empire Games Association.

The following are the Y.M.C.A. championships held from 1933 to 1948, followed by the New Zealand Gymnastic Association championships:

HOCKEY—MEN

NEW ZEALAND HOCKEY ASSOCIATION

Hockey in New Zealand was first played in Tinwald, Kaiapoi, and Christchurch, one of the prime movers in the game being the Rev. H. Mathias.

The New Zealand Hockey Association was founded by the Canterbury Hockey Association in 1902 and was duly registered by the Canterbury Hockey Association.

A conference of delegates from Associations was then called and was held in Wellington on September 15th, 1902. The following delegates were present: Mr W. J. Organ, Wellington, chairman, E. Nordon, Canterbury, G. B. Hall, Taranaki, A. D. Thompson, Wanganui, —. Burbush, Manawatu, and C. E. Poridge, Nelson. This conference decided that a New Zealand Hockey Association be formed.

The headquarters of the N.Z.H.A. was fixed at Christchurch where it has since remained. At the first annual meeting in 1903 delegates were present from Canterbury, Wellington, Wanganui, Nelson, Taranaki, Manawatu. In June, 1903, affiliation was granted to Auckland, Wairarapa and Thames. Otago affiliated in 1904.

The first Inter-Island game was played at Lancaster Park in 1903 at Christchurch, and resulted in a draw, the umpire being Mr J. Burgess. In 1922 the first test match was played against Australia, at Palmerston North, which New Zealand won, 5 to 4. In 1956 New Zealand entered a team at the Olympic Games for the first time and they finished sixth in the world ranking.

The major trophies for competition in the New Zealand Hockey Association annual matches are: New Zealand Challenge Shield, Junior Cup, known as the Zanol Cup, Rankin Memorial Cup, Nordon Cup, Hatch Cup and the Havilah Down Cup for the Senior Inter-Island match, and the Leo Coffey Trophy for the Minor Inter-Island match.

The New Zealand Challenge Shield was presented by the New Zealand Association in 1907 and was awarded to Auckland for the best performance in inter-provincial matches in that year.

HOCKEY—WOMEN

HOCKEY: Hockey, also written Hookey, from "hook," an allusion to the curved stick with which hockey is played.

It is not possible to state when hockey was first played, but as far as it is known, hockey was first mentioned in 1887. It is certain that a type of hockey was played at Oxford College. In New Zealand the first tournament game was for the Izard Cup in 1908.

The "K" Cup was presented to the New Zealand Association to replace the Izard Trophy in 1924 by Mr S. Kirkpatrick, a keen hockey enthusiast, of Nelson, who also donated badges, which were discontinued about 1938, but were again presented from about 1960 onwards.

In 1914 the first team visited New Zealand, when an All English Women's hockey team toured the country.

HORSE AND PONY JUMPS

NEW ZEALAND HORSE SOCIETY

Equestrian, derived from the Latin, "Equus," a horse.

The birth of Show Jumping events took place in 1866, in Paris, when a class for show jumpers was arranged at a harness show. The horse and rider were paraded and then sent out to jump obstacles in the nearby country, which of course had no spectator appeal, so it was arranged that a few fences would be erected in the arena.

The sport came to England about 1880, and was known as "Lepping" contests. In 1912 the sport was included in the Olympic Games at Stockholm and the first competing horsemen were all army officers from the different nations competing at the Games.

As each country had different rules, the Federation Equestre International was formed to standardise these rules.

In Britain, the British Show Jumpers' Association was formed to take over the control of the sport.

Pony club championships are held in New Zealand each year also, and it is from these Associations that the more mature riders come into the Horse Society championships for the Senior events.

The main event of the year is the "Horse of the Year" championship and the Agricultural Societies also hold their championships. Two of these main events are the Bunny Memorial Jump, held at Carterton, and the Dominion Jump, held at the Waikato Show.

The "Horse of the Year" championship is held annually and is open to A Grade horses only. Known as the Victor Lodorum contest, this championship carries the Olympic Cup and Miniature as the trophy, which was presented by Mrs R. S. Fullerton-Smith.

Competitors are required to jump two rounds. As soon as all competitors have jumped the first round, they jump the second round in the same order. The first round comes under table A of the Association rules and the speed is 382 yards per minute, with not more than 12 obstacles, including combinations. The second round is table A Puissance and the speed is 327 yards per minute, and the course shall not exceed eight fences, including a double. The faults for each round are totalled together and the competitor obtaining the least number of faults for the two rounds is declared the winner.

Faults in the competitions are first and subsequent knockdowns, first refusal or disobedience during a round, second, third and fourth refusal, which leads to elimination, exceeding the time allowed, and fall of horse or rider.

JUDO

NEW ZEALAND JUDO ASSOCIATION

JUDO: A science proposed by Professor Jiguro Kano for aiding the development of mind and body; it embraces the art of Jui Jitsui. Judo began to make its presence felt in New Zealand sport in 1950, when small groups began teaching, mainly from old Jui Jitsui books although no clubs were formed at that time.

First in the North Island, the Auckland club, Judokwai, began under the tutorship of Mr G. Grundy, and his son Keith, probably the only two English Black Belts in this part of the world at the time, who came from the renowned Judokwai of London.

The first club in the South Island was the Can-Am-Ju (Canterbury Amateur Judo) and this club was formed by Mr Jack Feilding, president of the New Zealand Association, and Mr John Banfield, both of Christchurch. Mr Feilding was a pupil of Ragori Shima, a well known Japanese wrestling instructor, also of Christchurch. Several Dutchmen, with the knowledge they brought with them, also became members of the Christchurch club, and one Feiko Sjoerds, a Second Dan, helped to build up the Can-Am-Ju club.

In 1956 after an exchange of letters, a meeting was called and a National body was formed, Mr L. Wood, a First Dan becoming first President. National championships were then held regularly at Easter, always at Wellington. Some 80 clubs are now in existence in New Zealand from Whangarei to Bluff, including many lady members, in all some 9000 members.

In 1962 a great event in the Judo sport took place when a visit was paid by the Kodokan commission of Japan to New Zealand, Mr Y. Matsumoto and Mr Y. Takeuchi, Eighth Dan and Sixth Dan.

Miss J. Leahy of Auckland and Miss P. Norrell of Christchurch are New Zealand's first women Black Belts.

It may be interesting to many to explain the terms used in Judo, as all the terms and numbers are in Japanese. The reason for this is that the Headquarters of the sport is in Tokyo, where the International Judo Federation is based.

Hajime: Start, to start a contest.

Randori: Practice or light contest.

Shiai: Contest.

Tatami: Straw matting on which Judo is practised.

Dan: Grade or Master Grade.

Kyu: Student.

Judoka: Judo player.

Judogi: Judo costume.

Waza: Trick or technique.

Tachi Waza and Ne Waza: Standing and ground technique.

Numbers: Ichior Sho, one; thus Sho Dan: First Grade.
Ni, two; thus Ni Dan: Second Grade.
San, three; Yon, four; and Go, five.

Each team consist of five members: Open team consists of five members of any grade.
Open Kyu team consists of five members of any Kyu grade.
Restricted Kyu team consists of five members of any Kyu grade below Blue Belt. Green Belt is third Kyu, Orange Belt fourth Kyu, Yellow is fifth Kyu, and White is sixth Kyu.
The first official National championships were held in Wellington in 1957, where a Dutchman, Feiko Sjoerds, graded Second Dan, became individual Champion until 1960. Since 1960 regular championships have been held, always at Wellington, and the events cover Individual and Club team events.

KARTING

The New Zealand Go-Kart Federation Incorporated is the national organisation controlling all Karting in New Zealand. Initially it comprised the two Island Associations, North and South. Since 1964, when a constitutional change was made, it has been a body consisting of Associations, Clubs and Managements, each with equal voting power at the annual conference of clubs, which is held each August.
The Federation was first thought of and agreed to in principal at the inaugural meeting of the North Island Association, at which three South Island clubs were present, this meeting being held at the first National championships at New Plymouth in 1960.
As no recorded minutes were kept of this meeting, the Federation operated in name only until the first Council meeting was held at Wellington in 1961. It was not until 1963 that the Federation became an Incorporated body. From this year the Federation began to grow into a decisive and authoritative organisation. It has issued Rule Books, etc., and a full range of trophies has been provided for all National title events.

In 1963 Ladies' and Junior titles were instituted and added to the National programme. The first elected President was Mr B. H. Paton of Christchurch, who held office for two years. Mr N. E. Crawford of Auckland was elected to office in 1962 and has been re-elected as National President, unopposed, at three successive elections. Mr F. B. Spensley of Rangiora has held the position of National Secretary since the first meeting in 1960.

In 1965 an International Kart team left Wellington to compete against a New South Wales team, in Australia, over a series of three meetings, losing these by 60 points. In 1966 an Australian team will visit New Zealand for a further three tests.

MARCHING

NEW ZEALAND MARCHING ASSOCIATION

MARCHING: Probably from the Latin word "Marcus," a hammer, because of the regular beating of the feet on the ground.

Rival claims have been made throughout New Zealand as to where Marching started in this country but the South Island can justly claim to be the first, as in 1927 a position was offered to a well known Drum Major to go to Otago to take charge of one of the brass bands and marching teams. In June, 1933, a marching competition was arranged by the Winter Show Association in Wellington, and this was won by a team from the Wellington Woollen Mills.

This team was coached by Jimmy Duncan, former Squadron Leader in the Royal New Zealand Air Force and who was affectionately known as 'Jimmy the Bull'. Following this competition, a meeting was held and the Wellington Inter-House Association was formed. In 1934 a competition was held at the Wellington Winter Show and this was won by Bryant and May of Wellington. Regular competitions were held until 1937, when owing to the transfer from Wellington of the Sports Director, the competition lapsed until 1941.

In 1941 the New Zealand Marching and Recreational Association was formed, representing the various bodies throughout New Zealand, and as well as Marching, they participated in games and foot races.

In 1948 the Association changed its name to the New Zealand Marching Association.

MOTOR CAR RACING

ASSOCIATION OF NEW ZEALAND CAR CLUBS

On October 18th, 1947, eight representatives of Car Clubs met in Wellington for the purpose of forming an Association of the Car Clubs then existing in New Zealand, with a view to unifying the activities of the Clubs, and the general interchange of information and data associated with the sport of Automobilism.

Present at this meeting were members from Auckland, Palmerston North, Wellington, Christchurch, Dunedin, Hastings and Nelson.

The first chairman of the Association was Mr P. M. Hoare of Christchurch, and the acting Secretary for the first nine months was Mr T. Wickham, who was followed in this office by the late Mr W. J. Cope.

The Secretary for season 1963/64 was Mr P. L. Lupp of Dunedin, to whom the compiler is very grateful for his co-operation in providing many details of this sport.

The New Zealand Association became an Incorporated Society in November, 1950.

Matters receiving early attention of the Association were the institution of Championships, for Road and Beach races, trials, sprints and hill climbs, with the provision of suitable challenge trophies for these events. After several years of negotiations, the Royal Automobile Club, London, in 1956, granted the New Zealand Association the sole authority to control all Automobile sport in New Zealand, on their behalf. The Royal Association is the controlling body for Motor Sport in the British Commonwealth.

Brigadier Sir Bernard Fergusson is the present Patron of the New Zealand Association. In 1947 there were eight Affiliated clubs in New Zealand and in 1963 there were approximately 60 clubs.

NEW ZEALAND GOLD STAR CHAMPIONSHIPS: The Gold Star Championship is awarded annually by the Association of N.Z. Car Clubs, to the driver scoring most points during the New Zealand racing season.

Points are scored in the order, 10, 7, 5, 3, 1, for first, second, third, fourth and fifth places, and a driver's five best performances only are taken into account in deciding the championship winner.

A cash prize of £150 also goes with the title of N.Z. Gold Star Championship.

The N.Z. Grand Prix, Renwick Trophy, Ohakea Trophy, Lady Wigram Trophy, Teretonga Trophy, the Waimate 50, and the Victor Hudson Trophy are the main races used in compiling the points for this trophy.

DUNEDIN ROAD RACE: This race was held each year in Dunedin starting in 1953 around the Dunedin wharves, one lap measuring 1.75 miles. The race was of a distance of 75 miles and there were 43 laps to the distance. The race started in Fryatt street, next to the wharves, and then went north, turning sharp left then right into Jutland street, turning left again at the Petrol tanks, over the overhead bridge, into Ward street, sharp right into Thomas Burns street, then two sharp turns left into Rattray street, then back to Fryatt street for the next laps. This course was used for six seasons, but due to pressure from local bodies the course was changed to around the Oval area in South Princes street. In 1957 the race was not for the New Zealand title but was raced as the South Island Road Race.

In 1958 the distance of the wharves circuit was changed to 51 miles. In 1961 and 62 the race had no National standing but was a Gold Star race.

The area raced around the Oval was south down Princes street, past the Southern Cemetery, over the hill towards the Glen, then sharp left into Wilkie road, through to King Edward street, crossing this to Bridgeman street, then left into Anderson's Bay road, then left again to Princes street. This course was used for three years but again the Otago Car Club had to give up using this area as permission was denied them to use this course again.
Winners to date of these races are:

This event was held at Ardmore up to 1962 when this big race transferred to Pukekohe in 1963, about 32 miles from Auckland. In 1962 a tropical storm caused the Grand Prix race to be called off after 50 laps had been completed, instead of the usual 75 laps.
This International Grand Prix is generally of 75 laps totalling 150 miles.

It is interesting to note that in the 1949 race the fastest lap time worked out to 68 miles per hour against nearly 98 miles an hour in 1963.

One lap of the Wigram course equals 2.116 miles and the race distance is 150.236 miles. 1963 marked the fourteenth year of this race and the ninth International race.

MOTOR CYCLING

NEW ZEALAND AUTO CYCLE UNION

The first meeting of the New Zealand Auto Cycle Union was held around the year 1919.

Championships are held at different venues each year, such as the Tourist Trophy race at Auckland, the Grand Prix originally held at Cust each Easter, but now at a different locality.

Beach racing, Scrambles, Hill Climbs, Road racing all form part of the National championships.

Results have only been made available from 1956, with the exception of the Tourist Trophy and the Grand Prix, which are entered since their inception, and one or two others that have been collected prior to 1956. Some of the championships are not held each year, and these are noted.

Winners to date are:

NEW ZEALAND MEDAL WINNERS AT OLYMPIC GAMES

OLYMPIC: This name is from the Greek, "Olympia," a district in ancient Elis, where the Games were first held.

New Zealand sent her first representatives to the Olympic Games in 1908 at London, H. E. Kerr a walker, and H. St A. Murray of Christchurch, a hurdler. Kerr was second in the second heat of the 10-mile walk, but did not start in the final due to an injured foot. Murray, who was New Zealand quarter-mile hurdle champion from 1906-1910, failed to run into a place.

In Stockholm in 1912 there were again two competitors, Neville Hill of Auckland, and Malcolm Champion of Auckland. To Champion went the honour of winning New Zealand's first Gold Medal, when as a member of the Australasian swimming relay team, he and his team mates won the 800 metres relay in world record time.

New Zealand competed again in 1920 after World War I, with four representatives, but none of these gained any medals.

A third was gained by New Zealand in 1924, when Dr Porritt of Wanganui was placed third in the final of the 100 metres.

In 1928, Ted Morgan gained the first gold medal for New Zealand since the Dominion began competing as a separate nation. This medal was won in the Boxing section.

The following are the Medals won to date:

PARACHUTE JUMPING

NEW ZEALAND FEDERATION OF PARACHUTE CLUBS (Inc.)

This Federation is the governing body of sport Parachuting in New Zealand and has five affiliated clubs as its members, namely Auckland, Waikato, Tauranga, Manawatu and Christchurch. The first club to be formed was the Auckland Parachute Club, which was followed by Waikato in 1954, and later by Canterbury and Manawatu.

To qualify as a parachutist, it is necessary for the trainee to undergo a course in parachute packing, maintenance and landing technique, under a qualified instructor.

Also required are three jumps under the supervision of an instructor. A total of ten jumps are necessary before the parachutist can qualify to make exhibition jumps.

At a New Zealand championship some of the events on a programme for the day are: Precision landing from an altitude of 3300 feet, Sky diving and precision landing from an altitude of 4300 feet, with a 15-second opening delay, Sky diving and execution of turns with a precision landing from a height of 7300 feet, with a 30-second delay.

For a New Zealand championship there are three events for individuals and teams.

EVENT ONE: Precision landing from an altitude of 3300 feet. Each competitor makes two jumps for this event. Points are given for precision of landing only, landing in the centre of the spot counts the maximum number of points, which for each jump is 500, making a possible score of 1000. One point is lost for each foot the competitor lands away from the centre of the spot, and the parachute must be opened the fourth second after clearing the aircraft.

There is a penalty of 50 points per second after the fourth second, until the parachute is opened.

EVENT TWO: Group precision landing from an altitude of 4300 feet with a 15-second opening delay. In this event each competitor makes two jumps, and a group or team consists of two competitors, and they leave the aircraft simultaneously. No points are awarded for delay or style of free fall and points are given for precision of landings only. Landing in the centre of the spot counts for maximum number of points, 500 for each jumper, and the maximum score for this event is 1000 for each competitor, and the team score is 2000 points. The parachute must be opened by the 16th second of clearing the aircraft. A penalty of 50 points per second for each second that the parachute is not opened after the 16th second of clearing the aircraft, and one point is lost for each foot the competitor lands away from the centre of the spot.

EVENT THREE: Sky dive from 7300 feet with a 30-second opening delay and manoeuvres. The manoeuvres are: A 360-degree turn to the right, followed by a 360-degree turn to the right again and then a 360-degree turn to the left.

Each competitor makes two jumps for this event and the second descent is made on a rotational basis with the other competitors. Points are given for style of free fall and manoeuvres only and the Judges nominate the point of exit above D.Z., prior to contestants becoming airborne. The contestants must carry out the manoeuvres in the correct sequence. A competitor can decline to complete the manoeuvres, and he informs the judges who note the request and judge for style only and the number of points earned for each jump is then only 100.

Contestants on leaving the aircraft stabilise, face to earth, arms and legs spread on the aircraft heading. If the competitor enters a spin or sideslips at an angle of more than 45 degrees or makes an untidy fall he loses ten points for each second of non stability. Each manoeuvre starts and finishes in the direction of the aircraft heading. Twenty points are lost for each manoeuvre badly executed, and points at a rate of 100 are awarded for each manoeuvre provided they are in the correct sequence.

For completing the manoeuvres, before the 20th second, the competitor can earn 10 points for each full second less but loses 10 points for each second over the 20th second from the time of clearing the aircraft.

Also, a penalty of 50 points per second for each second that the parachute is opened before the 28th second and for each second that the parachute is not opened after the 32nd second of clearing the aircraft. The maximum number of points per competitor is 1200, with bonus points in addition. For a team, the points to be gained are 2400 with bonus points.

Championships have been held since 1958 and the following were the venues:

PLOUGHING

NEW ZEALAND PLOUGHING ASSOCIATION

ATLANTIC SILVER PLOUGH: The New Zealand ploughing championship (Atlantic Silver Plough) is a national contest held under the jurisdiction of the New Zealand Ploughing Association Inc., and sponsored by the Atlantic Union Oil Co. (N.Z.) Ltd. Its purpose is to select a New Zealand entrant for the World Ploughing Championship, held in different countries each year.

Local Ploughing Associations conduct qualifying events each year, and the winner goes on to the New Zealand final at a chosen locality.

The Atlantic Silver Plough, awarded to the New Zealand winner, is modelled on an antique plough, the first ever used in New Zealand.

On Wednesday, May 3, 1820, the missionary, the Rev. J. G. Butler, wrote in his diary: "I trust that this auspicious day will be remembered with gratitude and its anniversary kept by ages yet unknown." At Keri Keri in the Bay of Islands, he had that day walked behind the team of bullocks drawing that first plough.

A facsimile of the page from the Rev Butler's diary is mounted on the kauri plinth which supports the silver model of the first plough.

The wooden plinth on which the model is mounted has a strong association with early New Zealand. Cut from a kauri pillar from the 80-year-old building of J. B. McEwan, in Wellington, it most probably came from the huge kauri forest of the north that the Rev. Butler knew.

Mr E. Mervyn Taylor, distinguished wood engraver and an authority on Maori art and legend, engraved the plates and carved the frieze at the base which incorporates the agricultural tools of the Maori—the Ko and the Pinaki.

The New Zealand champion ploughman each year retains in his possession a miniature of the trophy which was first competed for at Oamaru on July 28th, 1956.

Winners and locality of each championship are as follows:

The trophy for the World Ploughing Championship is the Golden Plough, which is a replica of an 18th century Norfolk Plough, which can be regarded as the forerunner of all modern ploughs. The Golden Plough was completed in September 1953, by Garrard and Co., in London, the firm which cared for the Crown Jewels, and which rebuilt the regalia used by H.M. Queen Elizabeth at her Coronation.

The inscription on the plough reads, "Pax Arva Colat," meaning "Let peace cultivate the fields," a quotation from the works of the Roman poet Tibullus.

POLO

NEW ZEALAND POLO ASSOCIATION

POLO: The definition of this word is doubtful, but it is considered that it comes from the Tibetan word "Pulu", a ball.

This game was played by the Emperor Manuel Comnenus, in the middle of the 12th century.

From the "Rubaiyat of Omar Khay'yam", written in the later part of the 11th century, comes this stanza:

"The Ball no question makes of Ayes and Noes,
But Right or Left as strikes the Player goes;
And He that toss'd Thee down into the field,
He knows about it all—He knows—He knows."

Polo was played in both China and Japan. In 618-906 A.D. during the T'ang dynasty the game was played among the wealthy people.

The duration of a game of Polo is divided into Chukkas, and this word is from the Hindu "Cakkar," and from the Sanskrit "Sakra," meaning a wheel or circle, and is one of the rounds into which the game is divided.

To the Royal Navy goes the honour of bringing the game of Polo to New Zealand. Lieutenant-Commander A. E. Harford of H.M.S. "Curacao" was one who helped to start Polo in New Zealand with Viscount Kelburn, also from the same ship.

In 1888 the Auckland Polo Club was formed and around 1889 the Christchurch Polo Club was formed.

The New Zealand Polo Association was formed in 1891 with the following clubs: Auckland, Christchurch, Dunedin, Rangitikei, North Canterbury and Waikari.

The first National Polo ground in New Zealand was at Feilding, on the property of the Feilding Jockey Club, who gave permission for this property to be used as a Polo ground. Mr Robert L. Levin, Hon. Secretary of the Wellington Polo Club in 1904, with Mr M. R. ("Mike") Murphy, formerly of Gisborne, but later of Patea, entered into an agreement on behalf of the New Zealand Association for the provision of a full size ground on the Feilding racecourse.

The new ground was first played on in 1923 and was voted by all concerned to be the best Polo ground in the Southern Hemisphere.

The Savile Cup Tournament was played in the North Island, two years in succession, then in the South Island, but Polo ceased in the South Island in 1938, so the tournament is now played only in the North Island.

In the South Island there were some thirteen clubs, from Marlborough to Dunedin in the south.

The playing field today is 300 yards by 200 yards but if boarded it is 300 yards by 160 yards. The goal mouth is 24ft wide, and a team consists of four players on each side. They are called No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, No. 4 or back. There is no offside in this game.

Games are of seven chukkas of 7½ minutes duration, with three minutes between chukkas for change of horses.

The two main trophies played for in New Zealand Polo tournaments are the Savile Cup and the Junior Cup.

The name Savile is linked with the history of Polo in New Zealand—a name known to all supporters and players of the game. Lieutenant Savile was born in 1863, being the son of the Rev. F. A. S. Savile of Hollanden Park, Tonbridge, Kent. He was educated at Harrow and Cambridge, and served with the Royal West Kent Yeomanry Cavalry from 1885 to 1896.

In May, 1889, he arrived in New Zealand to take up his appointment as A.D.C. to the Earl of Onslow, then Governor of New Zealand. Lieutenant Savile took a lively interest in Polo and presented the handsome silver cup known as the Savile Cup.

He returned to England in 1890 and was appointed by the Admiralty to the command of the armed yacht "Sea Fay," at the outbreak of World War I. After this service he was a major in the remount service. Major Savile was in his 82nd year when he died in 1945.

The Savile Cup is played for annually under the following rules:

1—That it be played under Hurlingham rules.

2—That the competition each year be played at the one centre.

3—That the Imperial Services have a right to enter a team.

RACING AND TROTTING CLASSICS

The first race meeting in Wellington and possibly the first held in New Zealand, was held at Wellington on the occasion of the first anniversary of the arrival of the first settlers in this country on the 25th January, 1841. The race was run near the Te Aro Pa in the area known as Taranaki street. The race was a hurdle race and there were four entrants, the event being won by Henry Petre on Calmuck Tartar. The winning prize money was fifteen guineas. In 1842 races were held at Petone Beach and later races also took place at Lyall Bay. Auckland had as their first meeting, Epsom races, which were set down for December, 1841. Nelson had an anniversary meeting in 1843 and their Turf Club started in 1848. Racing began in Hawkes Bay in the 50s.

For many years there was no organisation of racing in New Zealand and in the early 90s the New Zealand Racing Conference came into being.

Trotting in New Zealand did not come into its place among the sporting fraternity until around 1882, when some American stallions and mares were imported into the country by Mr Robert Wilkin of Christchurch and Mr John Kerr of Nelson.

Addington, in Christchurch, has become the home of trotting in New Zealand, and it is here that the New Zealand Cup meeting is held each year.

Dividends were not allowed to be published for many years and it was not until December 17th, 1949, that the first dividends were published in the newspapers.

Dannevirke and Feilding had the honour of being the first two T.A.B. offices to open in New Zealand on March 28th, 1951. Taranaki was the first club to start win and place betting on their course, on December 26th, 1932.

Many of the Classic races and major races are included in this section, although to give them all would require much more space than this book can give.

NEW ZEALAND CUP

The New Zealand Galloping Cup started originally as the C.J.C. Handicap in 1869 at Christchurch, when Mainsail won the first race. The N.Z. Cup in name, commenced in 1883 when Tasman won the first cup.

MELBOURNE CUP

One of the classic races of the world, although not a New Zealand one, is the Melbourne Cup. Raced at Flemington each year on the first Tuesday of November, and of a distance of two miles, this race attracts a great deal of interest in New Zealand and many people make a pilgrimage to Melbourne each year to see this big event. New Zealand horses have been very prominent winners of this event in the past decade. The race started in 1861 and the winner of the first two races was "Archer."

ROWING

NEW ZEALAND AMATEUR ROWING ASSOCIATION

ROWING, from the Anglo Saxon "Rowan," to row or sail.

One hundred years ago, in 1862, the Canterbury Rowing Club was formed, and this was the first amateur club in New Zealand and it was on the Avon river that the first rowing events took place, and the first regatta in the province was held on Lyttelton Harbour on New Year's Day, 1862.

The first New Zealand championship for single sculls was held in 1887 at Wellington, the double sculls in 1889, also at Wellington, the fours at Wanganui, and the champion eights at Akaroa, in 1937.

The Star Boating Club of Wellington was founded in 1865 and it is of interest to note that the Wanganui Club was the first in New Zealand to possess two eight-oared clinker boats.

In 1897, Auckland won by a length, a women's race between Auckland and Taranaki teams, in whale boats.

Napier Club originated in 1875, but their original course no longer exists, as the river was diverted and the inner harbour course was ruined by the 1931 Napier earthquake.

It was due to Mr W. Fitzgerald, captain of the Star Boating Club, that the New Zealand Amateur Rowing Association was formed in 1887, and associated with him was Mr S. T. Fitzherbert, of Wanganui.

The races for the New Zealand championships are: Single Sculls, Double Sculls, Champion Fours, Champion Pairs, Champion Eights.

The difference between the pairs and double sculls is that in the pairs each man has one oar, and in the double sculls, each man has two sculls. Sculls are used in the Singles and oars in the Pairs, Fours and Eights.

The weight of an oar is around the nine pound mark and a scull is about half this weight.

For the first few years the championships were held at different places, but from 1891 on, the location has been the same for all events, with the exception of the Inter-Provincial eights, which are held at Easter each year at a different venue.

A stroke table has been compiled by the New Zealand Association for the benefit of those who wish to determine quickly the exact number of strokes per minute a crew is rowing.

If Eight Strokes Take	Crew is Rowing	If Eight Strokes Take	Crew is Rowing
16 sec.	30	13 sec.	37
15 sec.	32	12 sec.	40
14 sec.	34

Winners to date of the various events are given as follows, with the location of the championships shown with the single scull results:

RUGBY LEAGUE

NEW ZEALAND RUGBY LEAGUE

The founding of the New Zealand Rugby League in New Zealand can be traced back from the visit of the All Blacks to England in 1905. One of this team's members was convinced that Rugby would have to be overhauled or give way to Rugby League. When in Sydney, Mr Smith met a famous Australian, also a prominent cricketer, Mr J. J. Giltinan, of Sydney, and the two of them agreed that each would do their best to establish the new, faster type of Rugby in their own countries.

Mr Baskerville, who was then trying to establish the League code in Wellington, met Mr George Smith, and between them they decided to send a team to England. They invited leading players throughout New Zealand and the result was a team of 28 players, including four of the original All Blacks and a Manager, Secretary and Treasurer, to tour in 1908.

Because the players were compensated for playing football, the team was labelled "The All Golds."

This team played in Australia on the way over, winning the three games played in Sydney. In England they played 34 matches, winning 19, losing 12 and drawing three. In Tests they won two and lost one. They again played in Australia on their way home.

After this tour in 1908, the New Zealand Rugby League was officially formed in 1909. The first general meeting of the New Zealand Provincial Rugby League delegates was held at Auckland in 1910. The first President was Mr D. W. McLean, the first Secretary, Mr E. W. Watts, and the Treasurer was Mr S. B. Houghton.

Auckland's official start in Rugby League was in 1910, when the Union held their first meeting in April, 1910, at the Suffolk Hotel. South Auckland also commenced playing in 1910, although their Union was not officially formed until 1921, with Hamilton as their headquarters. Wellington can be given the honour of being the first in New Zealand to have played Rugby League, as it was in 1908 that the first game was played on Athletic Park in Berhampore. Harold Baskerville was the prime mover in starting League in both Wellington and New Zealand, and it was with great sorrow that the Union heard of the death of this fine gentleman, at Brisbane, when he was returning home with the first team of All Golds who left these shores.

Mr Baskerville, before his death, was understood to be making a step towards having Athletic Park made the home of Rugby League in Wellington, but his untimely death forestalled this.

Canterbury held their first annual meeting in 1912, although some of their players were in the first All Golds team. West Coast played their first game in 1915 when they played Canterbury on June 4, 1915, and their first executive meeting was held on June 23rd, 1915, at the Club Hotel, Greymouth.

Otago commenced their first season in 1924, and it is interesting to note that application was made to the Otago Rugby Union to play an International match against the visiting Englishmen, at Carisbrook, but they were turned down, although a Chinese Soccer team had been granted permission to play on Carisbrook. The game was played at Tahuna Park with a crowd of 16,000 gathering to see the game, even though the Rugby Union had put on an Otago v. Southland game at Carisbrook. According to reports, several thousand could not get into the Rugby League at Tahuna.

It is also worthy of note that the late D. C. Bannantyne of Dunedin, a well known figure also in Swimming and Life Saving throughout New Zealand, was a prime mover to have League played in Dunedin, when he wrote to the New Zealand Union suggesting that the game be played at the Caledonian Grounds at Dunedin, and a tender was later offered for this ground of £260 per annum for one year, with the right of renewal for two years.

Nelson, Marlborough and Golden Bay districts also commenced playing in the years 1910-1911, and the Buller team sent a team to Auckland in 1927.

For some of the preceding information, the compiler is grateful to Mr Bruce Montgomerie, well known Rugby League author of Auckland, for permission to reproduce whatever was required for this section on sport in New Zealand.

NORTHERN UNION CUP: This magnificent silver engraved trophy was donated to the New Zealand Rugby League by the managers of the first English Rugby League team to ever visit this country. The trophy was given for Inter-Provincial competition in 1910.

The trophy was first played for in 1913 when Taranaki challenged Auckland. Auckland won 24 to 8. Then challenges were played by Hawkes Bay, who lost to Auckland 38 to 13. Nelson challenged also in 1913, losing 16 to 2.

The Great War intervened the next year and there were no further challenges until 1919, when Hawkes Bay again lost to Auckland, 38 to 13. In 1921, South Auckland challenged Auckland and lifted the trophy. In 1924 Auckland gained possession by defeating South Auckland 28 to 18.

RUGBY UNION

NEW ZEALAND RUGBY UNION

RUGBY: This sport derives its name from a school in England, where one day playing with a football, a scholar, named William Webb Ellis, became the first known Rugby player, by picking up the ball and running with it, instead of kicking it along the ground.

This was in the year 1823, but it was not until 1860 that the game was taken seriously.

The game in New Zealand first started off in Nelson, and the first inter-club match was played under Rugby rules at the Nelson Botanical reserve on May 14th, 1870.

Rugby in Wellington became organised in the year 1871, Wanganui 1872, Auckland 1873, Waikato in 1874. In 1875 Otago started their Rugby. Also in the same year, Canterbury started and most of the other provinces.

Wairarapa and Southland commenced in the year 1876.

The New Zealand Rugby Union was founded in the year 1892, and the founder was Mr E. D. Hoben, of Hawke's Bay, the first annual meeting being held on April 27th, 1893.

RANFURLY SHIELD: In 1901, the Governor of New Zealand, Uchter John Mark, 5th Earl of Ranfurly, offered to present a cup for Rugby competition in New Zealand, but when the trophy arrived, a shield was offered in place of the cup. It was decided that the trophy be a challenge trophy open to all unions affiliated to the New Zealand Union.

When the Shield was first commisioned, it was not made clear that the trophy was for Rugby. It was designed as an Association Football shield, incorporating the goal posts of that sport, and had to have the central design altered.

The Shield was first presented to Auckland in view of their outstanding record. It is also worth recording that this was the sixth year in succession that Auckland were unbeaten.

Lord Ranfurly was on his way back to Great Britain when the first challenge match was played. He died in 1933, aged 77, without ever seeing a Ranfurly Shield game.

SEDDON SHIELD: The Seddon Shield was originally purchased by the Nelson, Marlborough, West Coast and Buller Unions to create a competition between these four Unions to foster Rugby in these districts, and also to commemorate the name of the late Richard John Seddon. In 1922 the Golden Bay-Motueka Union was accepted for inclusion in the competition.

In the first series of the matches in 1906, Marlborough defeated Nelson at Nelson, and Buller defeated West Coast at Westport. Marlborough then defeated Buller at Westport, 3-0, and became the first holders of the Seddon Shield.

Rules were then drawn up, for the holders to have the privilege of playing on their home ground against all challengers, the order of challengers being the furthest away to have the first game, others to follow in rotation, but in 1949 the system of challenge was changed.

MOASCAR CUP: The Moascar Cup was first won by the IVth Mounted Rifle Brigade of the New Zealand Expeditionary Force at Moascar in the Middle East. The trophy was made available to the New Zealand Rugby Union after the end of World War I. To foster College Rugby, the cup was made available for competition among Secondary Schools throughout New Zealand, in 1920.

The cup is a very handsome trophy, the base being the thick central part of the propeller of a German aeroplane, brought down in Palestine, and the Silver cup itself, with four handles, is very massive and of striking design.

The winner of the first cup final was the Christchurch Boys' High School, who again won the Cup in 1922.

It is interesting to note that in the 1922 team for Christchurch, five players, who were later to wear an All Black jersey, were in the team: G. T. Alley, J. T. Burrows, F. L. Clark, S. R. Carleton and M. L. Page.

Winners to date of the trophy are as follows:

1921	Christchurch Boys' High School	1924	New Plymouth High

BLEDISLOE CUP: On September 2nd, 1905, the first New Zealand v. Australia match was played at Dunedin. The match was scheduled to be played at the Caledonian grounds but was transferred to Tahuna Park due to ground and weather conditions. The attendance at this game was around 3000. New Zealand won the first game 14 points to 3.

The Bledisloe Trophy is a magnificent cup, being about 30 inches high, and about 24 inches across. The trophy was presented in 1931 and was first won by New Zealand.

KOHN SHIELD, TRAMWAYS RUGBY COUNCIL: The Kohn Shield was presented by Mr Kohn, a jeweller of Auckland, in appreciation of the courtesy received over the years from the Auckland Tramways employees, and is competed for each year between the four main centre Tramway Rugby teams.

The shield was presented in 1910 and was first won by Auckland, when the competition was with Wellington only.

Christchurch came into the annual tournament in 1933 and in 1937 Dunedin took part for the first time.

Four other trophies are competed for but no records have been made available for these games. The Appreciation Cup was presented by Mr Ridley of Wellington in 1951 for the kindness and courtesy shown to the blind people of New Zealand by the Tramway men. This trophy is for competition between the first-day losers.

The J. Buchanan Memorial Cup was given by the family of the late Mr J. Buchanan of Auckland for the runners-up to the Kohn Shield winners.

The Joseph Cup is another trophy competed for between Auckland and Wellington and the Junior Kohn Cup, between Christchurch and Dunedin. The teams all play in one tournament held at a different centre each year and the games generally take two days to complete.

SOUTH ISLAND CATHOLIC RUGBY FOOTBALL CLUBS ASSOCIATION

From 1947 each year in the South Island, the annual tournament for Catholic Clubs is held. The trophy for this competition was purchased from funds donated from each club in the tournament, and is known as the Tournament Shield. The tournament is held at Easter each year.

All games are played with two spells of twenty minutes each way, except the final tournament, which consists of two spells of thirty minutes each way.

In the event of no decision being reached, the teams change ends and play two spells of five minutes each way, with one minute interval; the first match point closes the game. A touchdown shall count as a match point in all games but the final.

NEW ZEALAND MARIST BROTHERS OLD BOYS RUGBY FOOTBALL ASSN

In 1926 the late Mr C. I. Spillane of Wanganui, donated a trophy for competition on a challenge basis, open to all senior Marist teams of the North Island. The trophy was known as the Marists Cup and although it still bears that name it is the same trophy as played for today under the accepted title of "Spillane Cup."

From 1926 until 1929 the cup was competed for between Wanganui and Wellington, annually. In 1930 Hamilton Marist Club issued a challenge to Wellington, then the holders. Prior to this challenge a conference was held and was attended by Auckland, Hamilton, Napier, Wanganui and Wellington Marist Clubs, and Hastings Celtic. The outcome of this first conference was the formation of the N.Z. Marist Brothers Old Boys Rugby Football Association

A further result of that conference was the inauguration of what is known today as the Spillane Tournament.

In 1935 the tournament now had eight teams and it was decided that the 1936 tournament be divided into two sections, the first section competing for the Spillane Cup and the second section for the Brennan Cup. This trophy was originally donated by Mr Tod Brennan of Wellington, for competition between Napier and Gisborne, but it was felt that it would serve a better purpose if competed for at the Spillane Tournament

The offer of this cup was made by the Napier Marist Club to the association as the competition between them and Gisborne had lapsed. At a conference in 1951 the rules of the association were redrafted. In 1953, at Napier, the number of teams had grown to twelve and the competition was divided then into three sections, first section to hold the Spillane Cup, second the Brennan Cup, and third, the Moran Cup. To qualify from the Moran Cup section, to the Brennan Cup stage, and from the Brennan Cup to the highest honour, the Spillane Cup section, the winners of each of the lower sections are promoted to the immediate higher one, while the lowest team in each of the two top sections is relegated to the immediate lower one. These tournaments are held each year at Easter for all sections.

SHEARING

There are two important annual shearing competitions in New Zealand. One is the official annual Royal New Zealand championship that follows the Royal Show, and is controlled by the New Zealand Royal Society. This carries a certificate, donated by the New Zealand Wool Board, and the winner's name is engraved on an honour board in Wool House, Wellington.

There had been many mystic titles and claims to championships, so this championship was officially commenced at the Royal Show in Hamilton in 1956.

Winners are as follows:

Year	Held at	Winner	Residence
1956	Royal Show, Hamilton	W. Godfrey Bowen	Levin
1957	Royal Show, Hastings	Leo Pere	Hastings
1958	Royal Show, Invercargill	Walter Welch	Palmerston North

1962	Royal Show, Hastings	R. Bing McDonald	Waikato
1963	Royal Show, Invercargill	Colin McDonald	Southland
1964	Royal Show, Hamilton	N. G. Ferguson	Hamilton

The second major shearing championship is the International Golden Shears, which is held annually at Masterton. There are four classes in this competition: Open, Senior, Intermediate and Junior.

The competition lasts for four days and would perhaps be the largest shearing championships in the world. There are generally from 400 to 500 competitors.

SHOOTING—GUN CLUBS

NEW ZEALAND GUN CLUBS ASSOCIATION

In 1900 the New Zealand Association was formed, although a championship had already been held in 1899 for the Pigeon champions.

Live shoots of pigeons and sparrows were held regularly, but due to the prohibition of trapping live birds, Clay and Skeet shooting took their place. Single and Double Rise Clay shooting and Skeet championships are held each year and since 1953 a Teams High Gun championship has been held. An International Postal shoot is also held at regular intervals between Great Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

SHOOTING—NATIONAL RIFLES

NATIONAL RIFLE ASSOCIATION OF NEW ZEALAND

SHOOTING: In New Zealand there are three types of National championships for Shooting sportsmen. These are the National Rifle Association Championships, which are held at Trentham each summer, Trap shooting championships and Smallbore Rifle shooting.

It is interesting to read of an extract from the New Zealand Index Annual for 1899: "There is a set season for shooting both native and imported game in the North Island, but from the 1st of May to the end of July is the usual time. A Licence must be obtained from the nearest Post Office, cost 20/-, and inquiries must be made re the open season in each district. Game simply abounds in many areas and the list is as follows: Pheasants, mostly in Auckland; Pukaki or Swamp Hen, Quail, Hares, New Zealand Ducks and Pigeons and Teal, Kiwi, Weka, Kaka, about Kaipara Flats, Auckland; Snipe, Black Swan, Deer, Wild Goats and Wild Pigs in the Wellington area. In the South the same game is available but in Otago the fee is £3. Rabbits are plentiful but are being thinned out through poisoning and the canning and freezing of the carcasses, when shot."

The New Zealand Rifle Association started their championships in the year of 1861 and to them goes the credit of having the first National sporting title, the "Ballinger Belt," known as the King's Prize match.

SKATING—ICE

NEW ZEALAND ICE SKATING ASSOCIATION

The Ice Age, according to the Dictionary, is the Glacial Epoch, but the Ice Age for skaters is from three to ninety-three in the South Island in the winter months.

To place the exact date when skating started is impossible, but bone runners have been found in England and on the Continent, which prove that a form of skate was used as early as the 8th century. Skates were manufactured from the shank bone of animals and fastened to the feet with thongs. It was impossible to get a sharp edge, so skaters used a stick to propel themselves forward.

In 1662 Pepys referred to skating: "15th December, 1662, to the Duke and followed him into the Parke where the ice was broken and dangerous, yet he would go slide upon it with his scates, which I did not like, but he slides very well."

Pepys would be amazed to see Manorburn or Tekapo or any of the lakes or dams during winter to see the tremendous following ice skating now has in the South Island.

In Canterbury there are several places for ice skating, such as Mt Hutt, near Methven, Lake Ida, Lake Lyndon, Staveley Ice Rink, Ohau, Tekapo, Burke's Pass, Albury and Fairlie. In Otago the ice areas are: Alexandra, Arrowtown, Cromwell, Lawrence, Nasbey, Oturehua, Ranfurly and Diamond Lake, just to mention some of the places.

Championships in New Zealand started in 1939 at Alexandra on the Manorburn Dam. Most of the Ice Skating Champions are from Canterbury, but Otago also has its quota among the winners each season.

The Open figure, dancing, waltzing, pairs championships are sometimes held separately from the Junior championships, and also the Speed championships may be held at a different venue.

With the three main centres operating, Canterbury, South Canterbury and Otago, there were in the season just completed, 1965, some 16 affiliated clubs in New Zealand.

SKATING—ROLLER

NEW ZEALAND ROLLER SKATING ASSOCIATION

Prior to 1937 every city in New Zealand had its skating rinks, sometimes two or three operating at one time. In Dunedin there were eleven rinks open in the one season. A Brewery at one end of the city ceased making beer and built a maple wooden floor on which two-hour sessions commenced at 5 a.m. with the last session at midnight. When the business of these rinks dropped, championships were run to create further interest, with the result that nearly every rink claimed a New Zealand champion and on one occasion, at Timaru, there were three national open champions on the floor at the one time.

In 1937 a group of rink operators and skaters met at Christchurch, their aim being to form a New Zealand Association to control the sport, and in that year the Association became a reality, with the late Mr Arthur Power as president.

In 1937 the first National championship conducted by the New Zealand Association, was held at Christchurch, and Mr Roy Blair of Dunedin, and Miss Jean Hahn of Christchurch, were the first national champions. This championship was speed races for the Men and Ladies. Roy Blair later was a member of a leading Canadian Ice Hockey team while in the R.N.Z.A.F. overseas, and later returned to New Zealand and won many titles at the National Ice championships.

The championships have been held at the following places since commencement:

SKIING

NEW ZEALAND SKI ASSOCIATION

Ski: Pronounced "she" in Norwegian and Swedish, and so used by many persons.

Skis came to New Zealand in the 70s with some Norwegian goldminers. Mountaineers, such as Mannering and Dixon, around 1890, and Peter Graham, Brustad and Milne, in later years, started a sport which did not become well known until the 1930s, when men and women started this winter pastime.

The Ruapehu Ski Club was founded over some forty years ago and the Federated Mountain Clubs of New Zealand was formed in 1931, and in September of that year a sub-committee was set up to consider all matters connected with the control of skiing. The first meeting of the Ski Council was held in Wellington on February 18th, 1933.

With the great development of ski lifts, overseas instructors, better access roads and mountain huts, it was inevitable that an independent body for the control of skiing would materialise.

The New Zealand Ski Association, with an executive council composed of three elected members from the North Island and three from the South, a member representing the Federated Mountain Clubs and Honorary Secretary, Treasurer and Editor of the Ski Year Book, formed the Association in 1953.

The Association now carries out the control of organised skiing in New Zealand which was previously the function of the Ski Council of the Federated Mountain Clubs of New Zealand.

New Zealand was first represented at the Winter Olympic Games in Oslo in 1952, when Misses J. Adams and A. Johnson, and W. F. Hunt and Roy McKenzie, with H. Familton as emergency, were selected to compete in Oslo. In 1960 at Squaw Valley, New Zealand was again represented.

SNOOKER

NEW ZEALAND BILLIARD ASSOCIATION AND CONTROL COUNCIL

SNOOKER: This game is related to the games of Pyramids and Pool, which are played on a billiard table. The word "Snooker" refers to the position in which a player cannot hit a ball "on". That is the ball which the rules require him to play at, but because of obstruction by a ball or balls not "on" (which he must not play at) he is then said to be snookered.

Snooker commenced in 1945 and is now played at the same venue as the Billiard championships.

SOFTBALL—MEN

NEW ZEALAND MEN'S SOFTBALL ASSOCIATION

Softball is one of the most popular sports played in the summer season in New Zealand. Many claims have been made about its invention, but it is agreed that it is akin to Baseball, which was first played in the Gymnasium of the Farragut Boating Club in Chicago in 1887. Baseball is also believed to be an adaption of the English game of Rounders.

The introduction of Softball in New Zealand is credited to a Mr W. H. Wilson, who came to New Zealand from America to the Ford Motor Company of Wellington, and who played the game in the United States. In 1937 he imported some bats into New Zealand from America, thus starting the game in this country.

Softball is played by both Men's and Women's teams, and in 1963 the first National Secondary Schools tournament took place in Wellington.

The major trophies in Men's Softball are the Beatty Cup and the John Lennon Trophy. The John Lennon Trophy was donated by Mr J. K. Lennon in 1939 for competition between the Senior Men's Clubs of the Dominion.

The Beatty Cup was presented to the New Zealand Association in 1938 by the Beatty Washing Machine Company, a subsidiary of Dominion Motors, for competition between Interprovincial teams.
Winners of the John Lennon Trophy are as follows:

JOHN LENNON TROPHY: This trophy was first played for on the lines of the Chatham Cup series, and was played under these rules for the first three years.

SPEEDBOATS

SPEEDBOAT ASSOCIATION OF NEW ZEALAND

Speedboat racing in New Zealand has now reached a very high place in the sport of this country and it is to be regretted that results have not been available for all the championships raced over the years. The different classes are raced over many venues in New Zealand and it is with grateful thanks to Mr Jim Driver of Dunedin and the Editors of "Sea Spray," the boating magazine, for their assistance in helping the compiler to gather the results that are included in this section.

One of the Classic races is the Masport Cup race, results being given from 1925. Another classic was the Waikato River race, which had to be terminated in 1960 owing to tidal conditions due to a series of hydro stations on the river. Another classic is the Griffiths Cup, raced between Australia and New Zealand boats. Classes raced are from 75 cubic inch to 266 cubic inch.

The Masport Cup was presented to the New Zealand Association for the Open Speedboat championship by Messrs Mason and Porter, from which the name is derived.

Winners of this trophy are:

WAIKATO RIVER RACE: The Waikato River race and reliability trial was raced from Hamilton to Mercer and return, a distance of approximately 100 miles, and was first organized and run by the Waikato Powerboat Club in April, 1956. The race was run annually for five years and was then abandoned in 1961 due to the tidal conditions caused by a series of hydro stations on the river upstream, causing severe flooding and creating hazards for fast moving craft.

In 1956 and 57 the event was a straight race with victory going to the fastest boat to complete the return trip. In subsequent years reliabiliy classes were added to cater for ordinary pleasure boats.

The Head of the River trophy was donated by Messrs R. E. Harvey and J. Malcolm of Huntly, along with some twelve other trophies.

The following are the winners up to the time of the conclusion of the race:

Ninety-six power boats competed in the first off-shore speed race in the Hauraki Gulf on April 11th, 1964. The boats raced over a course of 100 miles in the Gulf, starting at the Harbour Bridge, running then to Waiheke, up to Kawau and then back. A shorter race was conducted for smaller boats and the distance was 40 miles. The race was open to boats 16ft or over in the 100 mile race and to under 17ft in the shorter race, with a minimum length of 12ft.

The overall winners were decided on total points for speed, fuel economy and power to weight ratio handicaps.

SQUASH RACKETS

NEW ZEALAND SQUASH RACKETS ASSOCIATION

According to Susan Noel, authoress of many books on Squash Rackets, the game may have started at Harrow in 1820 where it was confined for the next fifty years. It has been said, that the first Squash courts, other than Harrow, were constructed as part of the house on the banks of the river Cherwell, at Oxford, in 1883, by Mr Vernon Harcourt, of a well known Harrow family.

In 1911 the Tennis and Racket Association laid down standard dimensions for the courts and not long after World War I in 1918, the final measurements were settled.

Squash Rackets has been played in New Zealand since 1932 and the New Zealand Association was incorporated in 1939. The initial 15 members were divided into three classes, open membership, restricted membership and private courts.

The Open Membership clubs were Timaru, Palmerston North, Hamilton and Oamaru. The Restricted Clubs were Wellington, Christchurch, Devonport Naval Base, South Canterbury and Fernhill, Dunedin.

The late Mr G. E. F. Kingscote, of Christchurch, was the first President, until his retirement in 1947. The Kingscote Plate is named in his memory.

In 1962 there were in the vicinity of 2500 members of Squash Racket Clubs in New Zealand and some 43 courts were being used for the sport. New Zealand is divided into three areas for the better management of Squash Rackets, namely, Northern, Central and Southern. Auckland and Waikato comprise the Northern area, Central is the area in the southern part of the North Island and the South Island is the Southern area.

The New Zealand championships are allotted in each area on a rota basis.

SURF LIFE SAVING

NEW ZEALAND SURF LIFE SAVING ASSOCIATION

SURF: According to Webster's Dictionary the word "Surf" was formerly spelt Suffe, and has the sense of a rushing noise.

To the district of Hawke's Bay the honour goes for the first life saving reel ever used in New Zealand. In the year 1910 the first reel was used on the beaches at Napier, and also from this province comes the Nelson Shield, the major trophy for the New Zealand Surfing competitions.

In 1910 New Brighton, Lyall Bay, Worser Bay and St Clair came into existence, and in 1911 Castlecliff of Wanganui, Sumner and Maranui commenced their activities.

The New Zealand Association was formed in August, 1932, and became known officially as the New Zealand Surf Life Saving Association. Not all the Associations joined the New Zealand Association, and in September, 1933, of 45 clubs in New Zealand, 36 of them had affiliated to the New Zealand Association.

In 1933 Canterbury affiliated to the National body and today all the surfing clubs of New Zealand are bonded together to assist anyone and everyone who enters the water at any place where Surf Clubs are in attendance.

NELSON SHIELD: This trophy, the major trophy in the surfing world, was presented by the late Mr William Nelson, of Nelson Brothers, Tomoana Freezing Works, near Hastings.

Mr Nelson was interested in swimming and life saving and he presented the shield to the Hawke's Bay centre who in turn presented the shield to the New Zealand Council for New Zealand competition. The first contest for this shield was held at Napier during the New Zealand Swimming championships in February, 1915, and Napier was the first winner.

The shield was designed by a Mr Bert Bailey, and made by him. Mr Bailey was also a famed swimmer, being a South Island champion.

The shield could be competed for by clubs or teams representing districts controlled by branches of the Royal Life Saving Society prior to the formation of the National Association, but from 1933 on, the competition has been conducted by the New Zealand Association.

Winners to date of the shield are:

COOK STRAIT: First swimmer to cross:
On Tuesday, November 20th, 1962, at 6.48 p.m., Barrie Devenport, of the Worser Bay Surf Life Saving Club, became the first swimmer to cross Cook Strait, in the time of 11 hours 13 minutes. Barrie entered the water in the North Island at Ohau Bay, Makara, near Wellington, and landed at Wellington Head, inside the Picton entrance. The distance swum was approximately 16 miles, but what a 16 miles!

FOVEAUX STRAIT:
In the South Island, the Dutch swimmer, John van Leeuwen, aged 28, a new New Zealander, on February 7th, 1963, became the first man to swim the 21-mile journey from the South Island to Stewart Island in the time of 13 hours 36 minutes. John left the water at 10.55 p.m. John van Leeuwen is a member of the Oreti Surf Club, Southland.

Second crossing Cook Strait:
Keith Hancox, a Wellington Surfer from the Island Bay Club, made the second crossing of Cook Strait, on Friday, 7th February, 1964, in the record time of 9 hours 34 minutes, when he swam from Ohau Point, near Makara, Wellington, to Wellington Head, in the South Island. It is interesting to note that one of the swimmers accompanying Keith Hancox in his swim was Barry Devenport, who made the first crossing of the Strait in 1962

ENGLISH CHANNEL:
On August 7th, 1965, Keith Hancox, an Island Bay Surf Club member, became the first New Zealander to swim the English Channel, swimming from Cape Gris Nez, France, to Dover. Keith's time for this swim was 15 hours, 33 minutes.

SURF RIDING

NEW ZEALAND SURF RIDING ASSOCIATION

Surf riding is a new sport in New Zealand on an organised basis, and was first introduced into this country by two Americans who were staying at the Piha Clubhouse in 1959. They brought with them two Malibu boards, and this started the sport of Board riding in this country.
In New Zealand at present, boards are being turned out by a number of manufacturers up to nine and a-half feet, averaging 30lb in weight.
Duke Kahanamoku, a famed Hawaiian swimmer, actor and surf board rider, and now Sheriff of Honolulu, is reputed to be the first man to ride a surf board in Australia, when he rode a board at the Freshwater Club's waters in Sydney in 1915.
The first New Zealand championships were held at Mt Maunganui in the Bay of Plenty in the summer of 1963, and the major title was won by an Australian, now living in New Zealand, John McDermott. It was at this carnival meeting that the first New Zealand Association was formed. Mr D. B. Walpole was elected first President and Mr C. Mitchell, Secretary, and Mr J. Langlois, the first Treasurer.
The compiler is grateful to Mr Edwin E. Brown, New Zealand correspondent of "Surfabout," the Surf Riding magazine, for the use of the above information.

SWIMMING

NEW ZEALAND AMATEUR SWIMMING ASSOCIATION

"SWIMMING": From the Anglo Saxon word "Swimman," to swim.

The first Public Baths were opened in England in 1828 at Liverpool, and the Baths and Washhouse Act was passed in 1846.

The first Swimming Association in England was formed in King's Cross, London.

The New Zealand Amateur Swimming Association was formed in either December, 1889, or January, 1890, as two sources give both of these dates, but the programme for the 1940 National championships held at Dunedin, mentions that 1940 was the Jubilee year of the Association. Sir William Fox was the first President, holding this office for three years and he was succeeded by Sir Robert Stout, who held office for eight years.

Clubs were formed in Christchurch in 1880, at Hamilton in 1881, and at Auckland in 1888. Each club wished to hold National championships and Christchurch held a "New Zealand Championship" 100 yards, in 1886, which was won by A. Dallas.

Championships were at first competed for at different venues, and the 1892 National 100 and 880 yards were raced at Christchurch, while the 440 was held at Ashburton, and the 220 at Auckland. Herbert Bailey, using a single overarm stroke, won all four that year. The Lyttelton and Calliope Docks at Auckland were also used for National championships.

In 1905 all the championship events were held at Wanganui, and it is believed that this was the first national tournament on these lines, conducted anywhere in the world.

In 1965 it is interesting to record that there were 202 clubs operating throughout New Zealand, with some 26,900 members swimming for that season.

It is also interesting to note that there were some 19,360 juniors registered as club members and 4400 seniors in this total.

The following are the winners to date of all the championship events. Women did not enter the championship field, except for the 100 yards, until after the First World War.

LOCALITY OF NEW ZEALAND CHAMPIONSHIPS

From 1890 to about 1905 the different distances for the men's championships were held at different centres, but from 1905 onwards, every event is now held at one of the championship meetings. Senior events are sometimes held at a different centre to the junior events.

He died in 1960 and the trophy was named after him. Originally the trophy was provided by subscriptions raised from the centres. The trophy winner is chosen each year. He or she is chosen by the National Selectors, not only on the basis of swimming ability and performance, but also having regard to service to the sport, character and the probability that the chosen swimmer will continue to serve the association after his or her competitive career.

Dr Pettit was keenly interested in the teaching of swimming and he did a great deal of work in this field, which eventually led to the present type of small learners' pools. The trophy is in the form of a statuette and is presented as an individual points award for either seniors or juniors at the National championships.

TABLE TENNIS

NEW ZEALAND TABLE TENNIS ASSOCIATION

Under the name of Ping Pong, table tennis was a popular parlour game in 1890, but very little interest was taken in the game in the early part of the 1900s until around 1922, when the English Association was formed.

The name Ping Pong is believed to be taken from the sound of the ball when it hits each side of the table. In 1926-27 a new constitution was approved and the first English championships were held in 1927.

The game originated in Japan over 2000 years ago. In 1924 the name Ping Pong was discarded as it was then a trade name. The Ping Pong Association was dissolved and its place taken by the Table Tennis Association.

The first national gathering in New Zealand was a two-day championship at Wellington in 1934, and players from Manawatu, Wanganui, Auckland, Wellington and the Wairarapa competed.

Winners to date are:

ARTHUR MEACHEN CUP: The Arthur Meachen Memorial Cup was given in memory of one of Wellington's most enthusiastic officers and is won by the association whose players win the most championship finals.

TENNIS

NEW ZEALAND LAWN TENNIS ASSOCIATION

TENNIS: The origin of the name is obscure, but could have its derivation from the French word "Tenez," take it and play!

In the 13th century it was known as "Le Boude." The game was played in a crude form around the moats of castles, where Charles the VIII used to watch the game.

Lawn Tennis followed the game of Tennis and it is believed that a Major Walter Wingfield devised and patented a portable court for playing the game. It was an hour-glass shaped court and was introduced as "Sphairistike", or as its critics liked to call it at the time, "Sticky."

The first championships were held at Wimbledon in 1877 and these were run by the English Croquet Club who added the term Lawn Tennis to their title. The game was introduced into America in 1874 by Miss Outerbridge, who saw the game played in Bermuda by British officers of the Garrison.

There were several clubs in Christchurch in 1879 and the Parnell Club of Auckland started not long after these Canterbury clubs. Many of the original clubs in New Zealand were also devoted to kindred sports such as Archery, Croquet and Bowls.

Hawke's Bay had the honour of conducting the first tournament in New Zealand at Napier. It was open only to members of the club, but the following year an open tournament was held. In 1886 a third tournament was held and this was given the title of a New Zealand championship.

The Secretary of the Hawke's Bay Club, Mr J. F. Jardine, was the prime mover in forming a New Zealand Association in 1886, and the following year a tournament was held at Christchurch.

Early in the first years of the Ladies' Singles, Miss K. M. Nunneley dominated the championships, in that she won the title thirteen times in a row, and the medals she gained now form part of the Nunneley Casket competed for by Women's teams.

Winners to date of the various championships are:

WATER POLO

NEW ZEALAND AMATEUR SWIMMING ASSOCIATION

Water Polo in New Zealand is controlled by a Water Polo Board and is part of a Swimming Centre affiliated to the New Zealand Amateur Swimming Association.

No Water Polo player is admitted as a registered player unless he is a member of a club affiliated to the N.Z.A.S.A.

Water Polo was first played in New Zealand around 1892, and the first championship which was conducted on a club basis, was won by the Christchurch Club.

In 1909 the championships changed over to centre tournaments and are generally played at the National Swimming championships.

Relay races are also run at these tournaments and Inter-Club championships are contested at the same meeting

WATER SKIING

NEW ZEALAND WATER SKI ASSOCIATION

Some experts state that Water Skiing started about forty years ago in Eastern France, when some French officers asked a local boat man to tow them around a lake on snow skis, and from this episode, it is believed that Water Skiing came into being. America adopted the sport and from there it went to England.

In New Zealand there are some 36 clubs, with 13 associations.

The first National championships were held in Picton in 1960.

WEIGHTLIFTING

NEW ZEALAND AMATEUR WEIGHTLIFTING ASSOCIATION

Weightlifting is a sport that has its origin away back to the ancient days of the gladiators. It has been practised in the majority of countries throughout the world and is included in the Olympic Games programme.

The New Zealand Association was founded in 1935, but went into recess during the war years. The first Post War championship was held at Wanganui in 1947. There are seven weights in the championship classes from Bantam to Heavy.

The Bantamweight is up to 8st. 11¼lb, then Feather 9st. 6¼lb, Lightweight 10st. 8¾lb, followed by Middleweight 11st. 11¼lb, Light heavyweight 12st 13¾lb, then Middleweight 14st 2¼lb and lastly Heavyweight, which is from 14st. 2¼lb upwards.

In 1963, Don Oliver, a 20-stone Aucklander, set a Commonwealth record for the clean and jerk heavyweight event when he hoisted 425½lb at the New Zealand championships at Whangarei.

Over the last few years a Mr New Zealand contest has also been held at each of the New Zealand championships.

The championships are decided on the three Olympic lifts, the Clean and Jerk, the Snatch and Jerk, and the Press.

Winners to date are:

WHIPPETS

NEW ZEALAND WHIPPET ASSOCIATION

The origin of whippets is vague, but in the 18th century when the sport of cockfighting and dog fighting became illegal, the gentry of England were required to breed some other animal to provide them with some sport.

The Greyhound was found too large for coursing in confined areas, so the smaller Greyhounds were crossed with Manchester and English terriers. This off-breed resulted in a small but hardy edition of the Greyhound. These dogs were used as coursing dogs for some time and became known as the snap dog, because of their speed and snapping jaws.

The snap dog was not very attractive, its fine lines being overshadowed by its very coarse coat, so the snap dog was crossed with the small Italian Greyhound, which resulted in the graceful and well proportioned dog we see today.

These dogs were used extensively by hunting parties, their task being to whip up the game, thus the name whippet came into being.

The weight limits are as follows: Open 28lb; Middleweight 25lb, and Lightweight 22lb.

Whippets were first imported into New Zealand in 1924 and the first racing club was formed in Christchurch in 1926. Mr R. D. Johns of Belfast imported the first whippets into New Zealand and after racing for some time as uncontrolled clubs, the National Whippet Racing Association of New Zealand came into being. At the inaugural meeting held on October 19th, 1926, Mr Johns was elected the first president.

The sport flourished until 1939 and during these war years Dunedin was the only club left in existence, but in a few years the sport again took an upward trend. In 1941 Flying Dust, owned by Mr Gardner of Christchurch, made a record of 12sec. for 200 yards, which still stands today.

WRESTLING

NEW ZEALAND AMATEUR WRESTLING UNION (Inc)

WRESTLING: This word is derived from the Anglo Saxon "Wroestan," meaning to struggle and twist forcibly.

Upon the walls of the temples of Beni Hasan, near the Nile, are sculptured many hundreds of scenes from wrestling matches, depicting practically all the holds and falls known to the present day, thus proving that wrestling was a highly developed sport at least 3000 years before the Christian era. It was an important branch of sport in the Greek games.

Wrestling in New Zealand is followed in the winter months and the weights under which bouts are fought are as follows:

Fly	Not exceeding	8st. 2½lb
Bantam	„	8st. 13½lb
Feather	„	9st. 12½lb
Light	„	11st.
Welter	„	12st. 3½lb
Middle	„	13st. 9lb
Light Heavy	„	15st. 3½lb
Heavy	over	15st. 3½lb

A competitor at New Zealand championships must weigh-in accurately, nude and wrestle in that weight or the next higher weight if he has entered for that weight.

Fall: A fall is when both shoulders touch the mat at the same time, even if the opponent has not followed through to press them to the mat.

Previous to 1933 no results were kept and although results have been collected for 1933, the next few years have been lost, but again in 1937 the names of championship winners are available up to the present year.

YACHTING

NEW ZEALAND YACHTING FEDERATION

YACHTING: The word yacht is from the Dutch words Jagt or Jagen, meaning "to hunt," being the name given to a Pinnance or Pirate ship. The Dutch were the pioneers of Yachting, being the first builders of boats for cruising and racing.

Samuel Pepys mentioned Yachting in his writings away back in the year 1660, and a Yacht called the "Rat of Wight" was built at Cowes in the year 1588.

The first known race was conducted by the London Exposition in the year 1851, and was open to all classes of Yachts throughout the world, and was won by the U.S.A. "America." This craft was: tonnage 150, 94ft overall, 88ft waterline, 22½ft beam, and 11½ft draught. Several Englishmen tried to gain this title but were never successful.

In New Zealand, the first Yachting Association was the Royal New Zealand Yachting Squadron, which was formed under the name of the Auckland Yacht Club. The Port Nicholson Club was formed in 1883. Otago was the first club in the South formed in the year 1889, and Canterbury started their first club, the Christchurch Sailing Club, in 1891.

The New Zealand Yachting Federation was formed in 1953.

The following are some of the classes racing in the various trophy events:

X CLASS—SANDERS CUP: 14ft, three-man boat, closely restricted in design, fibreglass or moulded ply construction. Design has changed greatly since older wooden planked type of 10-15 years ago. Present design by Graham Mander.

Z CLASS—CORNWALL CUP, TAKAPUNAS: 11ft 6in. training boat, age limit 18 years, for two-man crew. One working sail and spinnaker. One design, plywood construction.

R CLASS—LEANDER TROPHY: 12ft 9in. racing craft, fast and more difficult to sail, two-man. Restrictions on design are few; owners can design their own boats within limits. Any registered owner is entitled to sail in National contest. Construction optional.

I CLASS—MOFFATT CUP, IDLEALONGS: 12ft. 6in. class yacht, no age limit, working sails, mainsail and jib with spinnaker as extra. Carries crew of two in light weather and three in heavy weather. Trapezes allowed. Very wide boat and hence very stable. One design and plywood construction.

P CLASS—TANNER AND TAURANGA CUP: 7ft. 6ins., one sail, training boat, age limit 16 years for competitive racing, unsinkable and easily righted after capsizing. Strictly one design so as to test sailing ability. Plywood construction.

CHERUB CLASS: 12ft. Sail marking of this boat has a romantic-looking heart with the sail number of the boat under it. This class originated in New Zealand and is of one design; has a mainsail and jib. Spinnakers are permitted under the rules. Boat has a wooden daggerboard.

SHARPIE: 12 sq. metre. Not a common class nowadays, but was the class of boat in which Peter Mander and Jack Cropp won an Olympic Gold Medal in 1956. Strictly one design, two-man boat, and is of German design. Short mast and a large overlapping jib, but no spinnaker.

FINN CLASS: 14ft 9in., one-man crew. One design craft from the drawing board of Swedish Naval Architect, Richard Sarby, for the Olympic Games at Helsinki in 1952. Has a hollow mast which bends when the boat is racing on the wind. The mast is unstayed and rotates, the boom passing through a slot in the mast. Sail markings have national letters underlined by two wavy parallel lines above the number of the boat.

SANDERS CUP: The oldest and most important contest in the Yachting championships in New Zealand is the Sanders Cup. This class was founded by Mr W. A. Wilkinson of Auckland, and around 1916-1918 many converts to this new X class were gained. Mr Glad Bailey was commissioned by Mr Wilkinson to draw out the lines of the first boat, which was named Desert Gold.

In 1920, the Governor General bought a boat called the Iron Duke, which he raced in that year and in the following year the class had spread throughout New Zealand. In 1921, Otago challenged the Auckland body to a contest to be sailed in this class, and Messrs Walker and Hall presented a cup in memory of the former yachtsman, Lieutenant W. E. Sanders, who won the V.C. and was Commander of the Q Ship, "Prize," in which he was killed in the Great War. "Iron Duke" won the Auckland trials and "Heather" came from Dunedin to win the first contest for this famed trophy. The Iron Duke is in the Auckland Museum, and the Heather was used just a few years ago in Dunedin as a local fishing boat. Winners of this trophy to date are:

CORNWELL CUP: Following the Sanders Cup in age is the Cornwell Cup, again originating in Auckland. The class was first originated in 1920, when Mr Abercrombie of Takapuna, and Mr Bob Brown, of Northcote, discussed a class for boys, together with Mr Norm Mathieson, who has done a lot to make this class the success it is.

Mr Brown designed and built three different boats and after trying them out, the present class was decided on and the next year, seven boats were built to this design.

The Cornwell Cup was presented in 1924 by Messrs Walker and Hall. The cup is a massive sterling one, and is named after John Travers Cornwell, V.C., a boy aged 16½ of H.M.S. Chester, who in the battle of Jutland, remained at his post at his gun when the rest of the guncrew were killed, keeping it in action, single handed, although under heavy fire from the German warships. He died later from wounds received in this action.

The first contest was held in 1924 and was won by Auckland, Messrs Mackay and Robb being the crew members. Winners to date of this contest are:

TANNER CUP: This class originated in Tauranga, from whence the name was derived, and was designed by Messrs H. Highet and P. Carter, the class being a one-boy boat, seven feet long.

This contest started in 1945 but the class itself goes back to the 1920s. Mr George Tanner of Wellington presented a cup for competition, and the contest is held regularly under the sponsorship of the Wellington Yacht and Motor Boat Association since 1945.

LEANDER R CLASS: This trophy owes its origin to the Canterbury Sailing and Power Boat Association who, in 1951, approved that this class should be put on a national basis, and in March and April the first national contest was held on the Christchurch Estuary.
To perpetuate the memory of New Zealanders who made the supreme sacrifice in the Navy during World War II, the Leander Trophy was donated. The trophy is in the form of a Cenotaph, mounted on the actual crest carried by H.M.N.Z.S. Leander during the war, also the ship's motto "Qui Patitur Vincit," is featured.
Sixteen boats took place in the first race, which was won by "Petite", of Christchurch.
